A-Reactor Vessel Rolls Off Truck At Murdock

. . . 130,000-Lb. 'Can' Goes Into Muddy Cornfield

By Bill Anderson

Murdock—The huge reactor vessel slated to arrive at the Hallam nuclear power plant sometime Thursday won't make it in time—it sits like a big tin can in a muddy cornfield near here.

Officials indicated it may take days to get it back on the road.

The 130,000-lb. vessel tottered off its cradle one mile south and 5 east of Murdock and rolled like a huge rolling pin for over 150 yards, using the soft earth as its pie crust.

It left a packed roadway 4-6 inches deep through the furrowed field.

Three moving-crew members riding on the trailer were shaken up and bruised, none thought seriously.

The cradle, weighing 15 tons itself, was a twisted mass of metal lying 25 yards from the trailer. The cab stayed on the gravel.

Ironically, the trailer that the vessel was riding on was the same one that had plagued the convoy since its start. Twice it had developed rear-axle trouble. And once it was beset with a time-worn traveling malady—a flat tire.

Consumers' Public Power District spokesman Frank Grant said damage to the reactor vessel "doesn't look too bad," although a daylight check was set for Thursday.

Through Fence

The vessel, part of 167 tons of nuclear reactor equipment for the Hallam plant, smashed through a fence into the plowed field and then apparently came to rest after it bounced over a rain-filled slough.

Officials at the scene could not immediately determine what caused the mishap.

Slated To Halt

The convoy, 4 70-foot tandem trailers with pusher tractors, was slated to pull to a halt at Murdock for the night, then continue the 50 remaining miles to Hallam early Thursday morning.

It had made the 30 mile trip from Plattsmouth, traveling about 3-4 miles per hour. It started Wednesday about noon, after being delayed since Monday by rains.

Grant said the rest of the convoy would continue to Hallam early Thursday.

Its journey began in Philadelphia May 3. The equipment, ushering in the atomic age for Nebraska, traveled over rivers, an ocean, a gulf and finally up the muddy Missouri to Plattsmouth where it was taken from barges for the last leg of its trip.

-SENATE PASSES TREATY-

Security Pact Now Official

Tokyo (UPI)—The United States and Japan put their new security treaty into effect Thursday and, minutes later, riot-plagued pro-Western Premier Nobusuke Kishi said he would resign.

Blaming "international Communst plotting" for the riots against the treaty and his government, Kishi made a plea for democracy in announcing his intention to resign.

The treaty, ratified only hours before by the U.S. Senate, already was in Tokyo for the final ceremonies which leftists had threatened to disrupt—if necessary by personal violence to U.S. Ambassador Douglas MacArthur II.

But apparently the speed with which U.S. and Japanese officials moved to exchange ratification documents caught the demonstrators off guard. The U.S. embassy was given but an hour's notice of the time and place of the ceremony at Foreign Minister Aiichiro Fujiyama's official residence.

There MacArthur and Fujiyama exchanged the documents which put into effect the treaty for which Kishi had fought long and hard, believing that it placed Japan on more of an even footing with the United States.

Embarrassed

Kishi, deeply embarrassed by rioting such as had forced the cancellation of President Eisenhower's tour of Japan last week, and facing threats of more rioting, said, "I feel there is a need for a change in the political situation, and I therefore see the necessity for me to resign."

In the Kishi statement, he said, "there is no doubt that there was international Communist plotting behind (the rioters') forces. I am very concerned about this. We must destroy violence, protect democracy and regain international confidence."

Kishi's resignation was not unexpected. Most widely mentioned as possible successors were Hayato Ikeda, Minister of Trade and Industry; Bamboku Ohno, Vice President of Kishi's Liberal-Democratic party; Mitsujior Ishii, Liberal-Democratic executive board chairman, and former Premier Shigeru Yoshida.

Speeded

In an apparent effort to speed the final formalities and avoid leftist protests, state department officials had greased the wheels of the diplomatic machinery. In Washington, the department said the document actually had been signed by President Eisenhower and Secretary of State Christian Herter before the President left on his Asian trip more than a week ago.

Wednesday, after the U.S. Senate gave its 90-2 approval of the pact, all that remained for MacArthur to do was to insert the date and await the Japanese arrangements for the formal ceremony.

Kishi had been under tremendous pressure ever since the treaty was pushed through the Diet on May 20. He was particularly criticized by his opponents for ramming the treaty through the Diet's lower house despite a boycott by opposition Socialists.

Kishi, who did not announce exactly when his resignation would take place, said, "I've fought for the treaty until this day, and I rejoice with the nation at the taking effect of this historic treaty."

Southeast Threatened; Elkhorn Is Drying Out

Clear skies and warm temperatures began drying out the Elkhorn River valley Wednesday, while 6,000 flooded acres of land were recorded along the Big Blue River valley.

Showers and thunderstorms predicted for the eastern part of the state Thursday night gave residents in the southeast little to cheer about as streams there reached flood stage.

Substantial rainfall in the eastern reaches of the Republican River, the Little and Big Blue and tributaries was predicted Thursday.

Lincoln received a trace of rain late Wednesday night and early Thursday morning. Traces were also reported at Omaha and Spencer. Burwell reported .12 of an inch of rain early Thursday.

Highs Thursday were to range from 75 to 85 with cooler temperatures in the east.

Rivers in southeast Nebraska are still reported bank full and flooding. Lowland crop damage from high water is extensive in some areas.

Heavy thunderstorms were reported in the Creighton, O'Neill and Orchard areas Wednesday. This does not effect the receding flood waters in the Elkhorn River Valley, reported the Weather Bureau.

Republican River

The Republican River is reported out of its banks as it reached a crest at Orleans Wednesday. Smaller streams in that area added to lowland flood damage.

A bank full crest passed Hardy Tuesday with little flooding reported.

Big Blue River

The Big Blue reached a crest 5 feet above flood stage at Crete Wednesday. Extensive lowland crop flooding was reported for this area.

All flood danger at Beatrice has reportedly passed, as the river receded Wednesday.

Little Blue River

The Little Blue crested at Fairbury a foot above flood stage early Wednesday. A second crest near 11 feet was predicted before Thursday morning.

WAGE BOOST BRINGS END TO RAIL DISPUTE

Papio Funds Asked . . . By Brooks

By Don Walton

Gov. Ralph Brooks Wednesday requested congressional appropriations this session for flood control work on the Big and Little Papio in the inundated Omaha area.

The governor proposed that this session of Congress "do two things before adjournment:"

—add to the appropriations bill the $5 million which the Corps of Engineers has determined as necessary to do an adequate and complete job of Papio watershed control work.

—provide funds for a good cleaning of the channels of the Big and Little Papio so that anticipated waters within the next few months will have a deeper channel and thereby help alleviate overflowing flood waters.

The governor's request was made in a telegram to all 6 members of the Nebraska congressional delegation, and Rep. Clarence Cannon of Missouri, chairman of the House Appropriations Committee.

'High Time'

"It is high time," Brooks said, "that we ceased depriving our own people of basic human protections to benefit unappreciative peoples abroad.

"A personal inspection of this area (Tuesday) has convinced me of the urgency of this project."

Brooks also noted:

"The inhabitants of the persistently flooding watershed on the Big and Little Papio are ill and weary of long-promised long range flood control programming in that area.

Suffering Cited

"The devastation, privation and suffering of human beings in this small area can no longer await evaluation on the basis of economic feasibility.

"At the same time, the flood control advisory committee which I have constituted cannot, and other agencies over the years have not, provided the method to combat the immediate problems of these Nebraskans.

"While it is commendable that the Small Business Administration is granting loans to help these people, I am far more interested in eliminating the disease that I am in buying pills for a sick situation which has plagued these people for so long a time."

Injuries Fatal To Mrs. Curtis

Was Involved June 14 In Bus-Pedestrian Accident

Mrs. Cora E. Curtis of 1621 Q became Lincoln's first traffic fatality of 1960 when she died late Wednesday afternoon of severe head injuries suffered June 14 in a bus-pedestrian accident at 17th and N.

Mrs. Curtis, 83, had been unconscious since the accident, a local hospital official said. She was on the critical list after the mishap, the attendant added, and her condition had been slowly worsening.

The traffic death broke the Capital City's string of 173 traffic fatality-free days on June 13, according to Acting Police Lt. Virgil Campbell.

Walked Across N

Police said the accident happened as Mrs. Curtis started to walk with traffic south across N St. and the bus was negotiating a left turn onto N from 17th.

Max M. Courtney of 1139 No. 66th, police reported, was driving the Lincoln City Lines bus which came to rest facing northwest.

Courtney, 48, told police the bus was traveling approximately 10 to 15 mph. The vehicle was not damaged, officers noted, and no ticket was issued.

Time of the accident was placed at 10:02 a.m. by investigating traffic officers.

The State Safety Patrol said Mrs. Curtis' death raised Nebraska's 1960 traffic fatality toll to 105 compared to 137 in 1959 at the same date.

Lancaster County's death toll was raised to 5 compared to 7 a year ago.

At this time in 1959, Lincoln had had no traffic fatalities.

Mrs. Curtis' survivors include a son, Dan M. Curtis of Des Moines.

Funeral arrangements are pending.

Trainmen Win 10 Cent Hike

107,000 WORKERS AFFECTED; PACT DRAWN FOR 16 MOS.

Chicago (AP) — The Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen —largest of railroad operating unions—and the nation's railroads settled their 14-months-old wage dispute Wednesday.

The settlement calls for a 4%—or 10.208 cents an hour—increase in wages over a 16-month period. This follows a pattern set earlier in railroad's agreements with the engineer and conductor unions.

The 107,000-member union had sought a 14% increase in wages. The railroads countered with a proposal to decrease wages by 15 cents an hour.

One half of the increase will take effect July 1, 1960; the other March 1, 1961. Present hourly wages range from $2.25 to $2.84 for the workers, who include brakemen, flagmen, baggagemen, yardmasters, switch tenders, dining car stewards and some conductors.

Other terms of the agreement include incorporation of the 17-cent-an-hour total cost of living adjustment since May 1957 into the basic wage rates; cancellation of the cost of living escalator clause; and a provision to keep the agreement in effect until Nov. 1, 1961.

Theodore Short, spokesman for the Carriers' Conference Committee issued a statement saying the carriers agreed to the increase because of the arbitration award to the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers.

'Hurts Public'

"However, in an industry where earnings have been going down steadily in recent years, it is obvious that any increase in wages at this time is going to hurt the general public and the employes as well as the railroads themselves. Very few railroads in this country can pay the cost of these wage raises out of earnings. This means that, unless ways to cut the exorbitant cost of featherbedding waste are found, rates must be increased and jobs eliminated," he said.

He estimated the wage boost would cost carriers 30 million dollars a year.

Commenting on Short's statement, W. P. Kennedy, president of the brotherhood, said:

"Nothing in this settlement can justify a decrease in the number of employes needed to keep the industry on a paying basis."

'Most Could Get'

He added, "This agreement represents the maximum we could get under existing conditions. It compares favorably with increases granted in recent months in other basic industries.

"It is not inflationary because of the increased productivity of employes in the railroad industry, particularly in that part where our members are employed."

Government mediators stepped into the dispute at both parties request on Nov. 12, 1959. Mediation was delayed pending the arbitration of the engineers dispute and negotiations were resumed after the arbitration board award June 3.

300 From Lincoln

About 300 men in the Lincoln area will be affected by the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen wage settlement, according to local officials.

The majority of the men affected in the Lincoln area are Burlington employes, while only about 10 Union Pacific and Missouri Pacific employes will be affected.

Mrs. Cole Dies

Mrs. Alice Lorene Cole, 44, of 2012 Vine, was dead on arrival at a Lincoln hospital Wednesday night, police said.

She had been rushed to the hospital by ambulance after being found by a neighbor lying across a bed in a sound sleep police said.

Officers reported an investigation determined she had taken a number of seconal tablets, a barbituate prescribed by the family physician to let Mrs. Cole sleep at night.

Survivors include her husband, Norman, and an infant child.

–U.S. SCORES SPACE COUP–

Artificial Stars To Help Subs

. . . SYSTEM SEEN BY '62

Washington (AP) — The success of Wednesday's two-in-one satellite launching — the first such coup — assures the United States will have an operating system of navigation satellites in 1962, Navy scientists said.

That's when the growing fleet of missile-launching submarines will need such artificial radio stars to help them fix their positions and plot missile trajectories with pinpoint accuracy in all weather and without surfacing.

The two instrument-filled satellites — an experimental navigation aid vehicle and a small sphere to measure radiation — were lofted from Cape Canaveral, Fla., aboard a two-stage Air Force Thor-Able-Star rocket.

The 42-pound radiation satellite, a 20-inch-across aluminum sphere, rode clamped to the 232-pound navigation vehicle, a sphere 36 inches in diameter. They separated automatically when they went into orbit, with the smaller one traveling ahead. Very gradually, the gap between them widened and the radiation satellite moved into a slightly larger parth.

Big Orbit

After precise calculations, officials said the orbit ranges from an outermost limit 563 miles from earth to within 460 miles of the planet. They figured each swing around the earth takes 101½ minutes.

At a news conference about 11 hours after the launching, navy and air force scientists were all smiles, hailing the experiment as a success.

Rear Adm. Thomas F. Connolly, of the Navy's astronautic department, told newsmen here this means the United States is "moving into space for real"; that now "we can get devices up there and use them."

The navigation satellite — named Transit II-A—is the second such research vehicle to go up. It is an advanced model of the Transit I-B which was placed in orbit last April 13. They are following different courses in space.

Close Fixes

Freitag said experiments with the first Transit satellite show that navigators—taking bearings by radio—could calculate their positions within a quarter of a mile. The aim is to shave the accuracy to within one-tenth of a mile.

Dr. Richard B. Kershner, director of the Transit program, said the success with Transit II-A would assure meeting the schedule for an operating system of 4 navigation satellites in orbit in 1962.

The 4 operational satellites will be fired into different paths. They will be equipped with sun-powered transmitters which the Navy believes will function for about 5 years. The satellites themselves — and the research vehicles launched — may continue whirling in orbit for up to 50 years.

Nazi Rally Banned By NY Mayor

New York (AP) — Mayor Robert F. Wagner Wednesday banned a 4th of July rally by an American Nazi group. His action came shortly after the self-styled fuehrer of the movement, George Lincoln Rockwell, was the target of a near riot at a court hearing.

"This is an invitation to riot and disorder from a half-penny Hitler," Wagner declared in turning down a permit for Rockwell's proposed holiday rally in Union Square by his American Nazi party.

The 41-year-old Rockwell, former Navy aviator, is a printer of anti-Semitic literature and currently is under investigation in Washington as a possible subversive.

"Left to their own devices, the people of the city will stone Rockwell out of town," Wagner said after a conference with Parks Commissioner Newbold Morris.

Asked Permit

Rockwell applied 3 weeks ago for a permit to hold the rally. Morris said he would grant it unless police advised him not to, on grounds of freedom of speech.

In overruling Morris, however, Wagner told reporters:

"I'm taking this position as a man responsible for seeing we have law and order in this town and it is not a question of freedom of speech."

Rockwell's original application sparked a wave of protest from Jewish, veteran, labor and civic groups. It culminated Wednesday in a stormy hearing in state supreme court in downtown Manhattan.

There, ouside the courtroom, about 150 demostrators surged toward Rockwell, spat upon him and sought to get their hands on him.

For The Asking: Triplets Mother Couldn't Keep

Yeovil, England (UPI) — "Triplets (a month old) Yours . . . For The Asking."

It sounded like an advertisement for some merchandise. But it was an appeal for a home for triplets of a young unmarried mother who could not afford to keep them.

The appeal was banner-lined on the front page of the Daily Sketch. Both the Sketch and the Daily Herald published front-page pictures of the triplets—Denise, John and Brian.

Mary Veitch, Somerset County children's officer, said the triplets and their mother were discharged from a hospital last Friday. The mother, who was not identified, went to an undisclosed destination, while the babies were sent to a foster mother.

State 370 Is Now Open; Few Roads Are Still Closed

Nebraska highway 370 east of Papillion was reported open Wednesday, by John McMeekin, state highway maintenance engineer.

Nebraska highway 224 between Stanton and Norfolk was still closed Wednesday as crews bladed mud from the surface.

Other highways reported closed due to bridge damage include:

U.S. 77 north of Fremont, where high waters in Maple Creek undermined both approaches to a bridge.

Nebraska 15 south of Pilger, where a bridge approach was washed out and a pier settled. Crews were filling in the approach, but the pier damage was as yet unassessed.

Nebraska 57 south of Stanton, where a 50-foot bridge approach was washed out.

Nebraska 32 east of Madison was also reported closed.

No reports are available concerning the condition of Nebraska 91 east of Nickerson, Nebraska 10 north of Minden, and Nebraska 74 east of Minden. All 3 were closed by high water Tuesday.

Medical Care Bill Passage Assured

Washington (UPI) — The House Wednesday shouted its tentative approval of a bill to provide medical care through federal-state subsidies to a half-million to a million needy Americans over age 65.

The action assured roll call passage Thursday of the measure, which falls far short of a subsidy plan offered by the administration and a labor-backed bill which would provide extensive care under the social security system.

School Aid Hit Fatally

BY HOUSE UNIT VOTE

Washington (UPI) — The conservative-dominated House Rules Committee Wednesday dealt a probable death blow to federal school aid legislation at this session of Congress.

In a surprise move, the committee refused 7-5 to authorize House participation in a conference with Senate members at which an effort would be made to work out a compromise bill.

Unless the committee reverses itself later, there is no chance of congress approving a bill before it adjourns next month.

Setback

The action was viewed as a setback for Vice President Richard M. Nixon. He had been working behind the scenes for passage of an election-year school bill.

Rep. Howard W. Smith (D-Va), chairman of the rules committee and a foe of federal school aid, said it was "always possible" his group would reconsider its action. But he gave no indication that this would be done.

The committee action came as a shock to supporters of the school legislation. They had been confident the group would agree to Senate-House negotiations aimed at working out differences between differing bills passed earlier this year by the two chambers.

2-Year Plan

The Senate bill called for a $1,830,000,000 two-year program of federal aid to help in construction of new schools and to help increase teacher's salaries.

The House bill called for a $1,300,000,000 4-year program for classroom construction alone. It also included a provision barring aid to segregated schools.

Voting against the conference procedure were all 4 Republicans on the rules committee and 3 of its 8 democrats.

15,344 See Homes Parade

A total of 15,344 spectators had visited the Parade of Homes as of Wednesday night according to the Lincoln Home Builders Assn., sponsors of the annual event.

The 18 homes, open from 5 p.m. to 9 p.m., were visited by 2,929 persons Wednesday evening alone.

Methodists To Elect 5 New Bishops

San Antonio, Tex. (AP) — Election of 5 new bishops and revision of the boundaries of its episopal areas are the top matters before the south central jurisdictional conference of the Methodist Church which opened Wednesday.

Successors will be named for retiring bishops A. Frank Smith of the Houston-San Antonio, Tex., area and Dana Dawson of Kansas and the late Bishop H. Bascom Watts of Nebraska, who died last November.

Delegates are expected to give formal approval to creating new episcopal areas for San Antonio and Louisiana and new bishops will be elected for these. The general council of the denomination has already approved the new areas.

No Formal Campaigns

There are no formal campaigns prior to election of bishops. Each voting delegate will write on a ballot the names of 5 persons he considers best qualified for the jobs.

When one minister receives the necessary 188 votes or 60% of the ballots cast, voting will continue with each delegate writing 4 names, and so on.

Balloting was to begin during the afternoon and will continue from time to time during business sessions until 5 bishops have been named. Convention officials hope the voting will be completed by Saturday afternoon.

James Hallstrom, 75, Dies On Bus

James F. Hallstrom, 75, of 2217 D, died Wednesday after he apparently suffered a heart attack on a Lincoln City Lines bus at 11th and N.

Police said he was pronounced dead on arrival at Bryan Memorial Hospital where he was taken by ambulance.

Mr. Hallstrom, who retired from the Post Office in 1953 after 42 years, had lived in Lincoln 52 years and the state all his life. He was a member of St. Paul Methodist Church.

He is survived by his wife, Bertha; daughters, Mrs. Margaret Poppy of Cedar Falls, Ia., Mrs. Evelyn Lefler of Lincoln, Mrs. Fern Edmison of Stillwater, Okla., and Mrs. Grace Tucker of Boise, Ida.; sisters, Mrs. Hilma Newburg and Mrs. Esther Newburg, both of Peoria, Ill.; 8 grandchildren, and one great-grandchild.

Home From Hospital

Merritt E. Nellis, 49, of 5703 Baldwin Ave., was dismissed Wednesday from a Lincoln hospital. His left eye was removed in an emergency operation after it was injured when a small steel object struck it after a jack slipped.

Highland Meadows OKd; City Can't Purchase Land

By Virgil Falloon

Final approval of the 5-lot Highland Meadows subdivision, overlooking the proposed Antelope Creek dam-reservoir site, was recommended Wednesday by the City-County Planning Commission.

The 5-acre replat, near 63rd and Calvert, is located between the two fingers of the proposed reservoir in the area suggested to the city for park and recreation and municipal golf course development.

However, after some weeks of study and discussion, the City Council finally advised that the city had no money available for the purchase of the 17-acre tract owned by Laurence E. Liebers, George B. Johnson and Robert E. Colin.

Atty. William C. Hastings said the owners plan to build their own homes on 3 of the lots. The two other were platted "not for speculation," but because of zoning requirements for acceptance of the subdivision, he said.

Meets Requirements

In recommending final approval to the Council, the commission said the proposed subdivision meets city zoning and subdivision provisions.

The subdivision is located a considerable distance outside the 100-year-maximum pool area as designated by the Army Corps of Engineers.

Commission Chairman E. J. Faulkner said approval of the residential replat "will not affect the propsects of the Antelope Dam one way or the other."

A month ago, the Corps of Engineers reported the dam-reservoir was "non-feasible," but promised further study on other possible aspects for a new report by Sept. 1.

Meanwhile, the Council and the Lincoln Chamber of Commerce have adopted resolutions urging the Corps' restudy and pledging their cooperation in efforts to secure the dam project.

Light Agenda

The commission needed only 20 minutes to cover the regular agenda, which was the lightest in years.

It recommended approval of a special permit to Kraft & Sons Inc. for construction and operation of 5 underground petroleum products storage tanks on highway commercial zoned property near 48th and Cornhusker Highway.

The W. A. Lynn Construction Co., which originally sought heavy industry zoning of the tract, recently sold the property to Kraft for approximately $20,000, the attorney said. He requested the permit be issued to Kraft.

The only other item was the preliminary approval for proposed Carters Subdivision, a 6-lot replat between 48th and 47th, South and Franklin.

Next meeting of the commission will be July 13. Only one meeting will be scheduled in July and August.

All-State Fine Arts Operetta Is Scheduled Friday

An All-State High School Fine Arts operetta, under the direction of Amer Lincoln, University of Nebraska graduate student from Bradshaw, will be presented at the University Friday at 7:30 p.m.

The performance will be held in the Nebraska Union ballroom. There is no admission charge and the public is invited to attend.

Featured this year will be a combination of 4 hit musicals by Rogers and Hammerstein. Music and action will be selected from "Carrousel," "South Pacific," "The King and I," and "Oklahoma."

The cast of high school students will include more than 30 leading roles plus a chorus.

Armed Robbery Nets $5,000 Cash

Walton, Kan. (UPI) — Two bandits, one of them wielding a revolver and the other a sawed-off shotgun, robbed the State Bank of Walton of about $5,000 during the noon hour Wednesday.

Two bank officials were tied up and left lying on the floor. Roadblocks were set up and airplanes joined in a search by sheriffs deputies and highway patrolmen for the thieves.

A car believed to be the one used in the escape was found abandoned on a county road northeast of Wichita, Kan., about 4 hours after the robbery.

Authorities said the robbers used a car stolen earlier from Newton, Kan. The license of the one found near Wichita was checked as that of the stolen car.

O. L. Spangler, 82-year-old President of the bank, and O. E. Spangler, 48, his son and vice-president, were the only occupants when the two robbers walked in and demanded money.

Gripe At Pay

Tokyo (AP) — Some socialist members of parliament complained at a party caucus about the compensation for their services in fighting Japan's new alliance with the United States. The party announced the going rate is 500 yen ($1.39) a night and that it can't afford to pay more. Amid the uproar, one socialist declared: "Why my expenses for food and lodging alone come to more than that."

Group Urges Non-Business Zoning In Belmont Area

The Northwest Lincoln Community Association has urged rural or single-family residential zoning around the Belmont community area south and east of the Interstate Highway and proposed access connection to downtown Lincoln.

The Association, composed of the Parent-Teacher Association, Belmont Community Center, church and civic groups in the Belmont area, ter to the City-County Planning Commission.

Of particular interest was the square mile area north of Adams and west of 27th.

Decidedly Opposed

"We are decidedly opposed to any commercial or business zoning along North 14th or Superior from 27th west to the Interstate access route," the letter stated.

No objection to heavy industry zoning of the tract southeast of 27th and Superior was made, but it was requested the commission restrict its use against obnoxious and unsightly industries.

Also urged were setback safeguards on Superior and 27th streets "to prevent creation of another Cornhusker Highway situation along these arterial streets."

The commission placed the Association's letter on file for reference and consideration.

Chairman E. J. Faulkner said further views of the Association would be welcomed as specific zoning matters come before the commission.

The letttr was received from A. Leicester Hyde, association president.

Analysts Of Car Parking To Use Tags

Automobiles parked between H and R from 8th to 18th Streets Thursday will be tagged, but not necessarily for parking violations.

The stamped tags are a part of a Lincoln parking survey being undertaken by Barton-Aschman and Associates of Evanston, Ill. and should be mailed to the self-addressed Downtown Development of Lincoln Inc.

The Downtown Development of Lincoln Inc. has employed the firm, specializing in downtown planning and traffic at a $40,000 cost, to study and develop a total program for downtown Lincoln progress.

The survey seeks to find out why an individual parked his car at a particular location (for shopping, on a business trip, employed or having downtown office), address of the building destination after parking the car and origin of motorist.

The total returned cards will be tabulated and studied at the Evanston firm's offices. A spokesman for the firm said that it is hoped that the returned cards will give a good picture of Lincoln's parking needs and the reasons for downtown parking.

Burley, England (UPI) — Mink farmer Len Matchan announced plans for a new hotel that will have a bar with mink-covered bar stools, mink wallpaper and bartenders wearing mink ties.

Labor Party Asks Abolition Of U.S. Rockets In Britain

London (AP) — Britain's opposition Labor party Wednesday demanded abolition of American rocket bases in this country.

In a major policy switch, the divided party's high command urged that Britain quit making nuclear weapons and instead rely on the deterrent power of America's nuclear force.

After approving the new policy statement, the party's national executive committee expressed full confidence in the leadership of Hugh Gaitskell. His outster has been demanded by party left wingers.

The labor statement contained nothing to suggest that the party favors destruction or abandonment of Britain's existing stock of atomic and hydrogen weapons.

A Kind Of Oblivion

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

The Senate Internal Security Subcommittee has reached a point of uncertainty and haziness from which it will have a difficult time recovering. This difficult position was reached when Nobel prize winner Linus Pauling refused to tell the subcommittee the names of other scientists who helped him gather signatures for petitions opposing nuclear weapons tests.

The complexities of this situation are practically endless and its repercussions are many. It is not going to be a simple matter of standing on senatorial rules and citing the renowned chemist for contempt of Congress. This may appear to some to be the only alternative and it may well happen but not without a center of controversy swirling about it. Pauling has been given until Aug. 9 to produce the information the senators are seeking in an effort to determine the extent, if any, of Communist efforts behind the nuclear test ban drive. But Pauling has already firmly committed himself against giving out the information and a change of heart on his part would be most unexpected.

Contempt Charge No Answer

The Senate has not intended to infer that Pauling was under any sort of suspicion himself insofar as his motives or patriotism are concerned. And it would be an ill advised and overly emotional public which would condemn Pauling on the grounds that he lacked the proper regard for his country. Such a question as this simply provides for too easy an answer to a complex problem.

Pauling refused the Senate investigators "as a matter of conscience, as a matter of morality, as a matter of justice." These may seem like foreign and confusing terms to some but the more one enters into the world of such men as Pauling, the more such terms are understood and appreciated.

A current lecturer at the University of Nebraska summer sessions, Mr. Nicholas DeWitt, is in charge of the Russian Research Center at Harvard University. In a recent speech before a group of Lincoln businessmen, Mr. DeWitt noted that the world of communism as all of us know it today was known to the academic world some 20 or more years ago. But the knowledge, due to lack of outside interest and communications between the academic and materialistic world, stayed within the ranks of the intellectuals.

It probably is well that it did because at the time of the academic world's discovery of the reality of communism, the rest of the world was not yet ready for it. In fact, Russia was a close ally of the Western family of nations and together we were at war against the Axis powers of Europe and Asia. Had the academic world at that time attempted to convince the rest of the world as to the dangers of communism, it would have been accused of complete lack of patriotism. It most surely would have been accused of seriously jeopardizing the war effort.

Yet, this kind of an academic world in many phases of our existence is vitally needed. It is expected and hoped that the scientist and the scholar should be ahead of his contemporaries — that the rest of us should be laymen in comparison to him as the term is commonly understood today. However, he runs a risk in his futuristic existence because the rest of the world is never ready for him.

Just as we were not ready to accept the tenets and objectives of communism 20 years ago, we are not ready to accept the simplicity of nuclear test bans. We think we are not ready for a good reason and we would have considered most sound our reason 20 years ago for failing to recognize and accept communism for what it was even then.

But the difference here is a significant one. It is a difference between expediency and stark reality as opposed to pure truth and thought. We cannot continue to place in jeopardy those who are advanced enough in wisdom and understanding to comprehend causes and effects in the world today which the rest of us will not grasp for another decade or two. The man with genius who thinks independently of any political or social influences — the man such as Pauling and many of those whom, in his own peculiar way, he is now seeking to protect — will be destroyed if we force him to conform to the physical and materialistic environment which surrounds him.

Destruction Of Genius

And destroy this small intellectual nucleus and you will destroy the progress of humanity for generations to come. There has to be freedom within the comparatively limited society of the scientist of the intellectual to pursue new horizons wherever and whenever the challenge is stimulating enough. We need not travel every new path which is opened to us in this way but we desperately need the choice of doing so. Subjugation or prosecution in the case of Pauling will seriously impair the realization of this need.

"Here We Go Again"

False Economy

Economy is a broad term and in the precincts of politics and casual public attention it is too loosely connected with a refusal to spend, which is considered an unalloyed virtue. Too often it is not, and there are times when reasonable spending is more like casting bread upon the waters to be returned many fold — that is, when refusal to spend is indeed costly.

An example is the House Appropriations Committee's 20 per cent reduction of President Eisenhower's foreign aid budget. It was an exercise that strangled the Indus River program.

The Indus watershed with its six tributaries continues for 5,600 miles through Pakistan and India and the proposed billion dollar reclamation program would convert it from a partially developed area into the world's most majestic irrigated region with fabulous potential in electric power and industrialization. Both India and Pakistan are anti-communist areas, each engaged in the difficult early stage of developing a modern free society. Their success could well hinge on such an aided project as the one supported by the World Bank and western interests in the Indus Valley. Yet a Congressional committee by refusing sufficient initial funds is preventing a development which ultimately could be worth its weight in gold to the free world which, for the lack of it, might well cost the United States an infinite amount in terms of defensive make difference.

It is so plain that the United States became great and strong through the diligent development of its resources, and also plain that Russia is gaining strength through the same method. And it is further plain that the false economy centering in the refusal to expand the strength of the free world through resources development is a step in the wrong direction. The committee should hasten to retrace its steps.

Nobody Wants To Pay

If the City Council was a little bit disgusted at its last meeting, it has cause to be so. Property owners along 10th between N and R were not unanimous in their approval of assessments made for the 1958 resurfacing of the street. The project had cost $93,580, and $46,790 was to be assessed back against abutting property owners.

One property owner objected to any assessment for intersection costs and the Council did eliminate $4,000 from the assessment figure as the cost of one intersection. Objectors used the same old arguments that have been heard on this subject for years—the improvement benefits the general public as much as the property owner involved.

The idea of intersection costs being eliminated is a new one and why the Council took out $4,000 for this purpose is hard to understand. What earthly good would paving be without intersections to connect it up? Obviously, the intersections are a logical part of any paving project and assertions to the contrary are nonsense.

Also, there is no weight to the argument that such improvements are a city-wide benefit as opposed to the benefits of adjoining property owners. Assessment against abutting property is a time-honored method and the only method which makes sense. Just as people use 10th who have not shared in its paving costs, people use every other street which they have not paid for.

The property owner along 10th uses streets all the time he did not pay for. The theory is that rather than attempting to make everyone pay a little bit on every street, which would be a practical impossibility, each person pays on the street or streets along which he owns property. The 10th Street property owners already were relieved of 50 per cent of the cost of that project because of its arterial nature. To put it mildly, the objectors have a lot of nerve but little ground on which to stand.

Detached Thoughts

It is hard to figure at this stage just what the prophetic factor is in the lately completed walking trip during which two British military gentlemen, of low rank, traversed the United States — a distance of 2,970 miles — in 67 days.

Since the twosome wore out eight pairs of shoes in slightly over two months the affair should be wildly interesting to the nation's shoe trade — opening a vista of great activity and profit if America would forsake the riding habit and start legging it from place to place. But that is a parochial view and has no meaning in terms of new national purpose.

From a military point of view it could be taken to mean that if we do not keep our defense establishment in top condition a diligent invading army could occupy the country in less than three months. Or, if we wish to think in terms of American decadence, there is the fact that these visiting men made the distance in 10 days less time than any walking American we know of. And especially since we have turned vicarious and sedentary and are relying almost wholly on our western television heroes for acts of vigor and derring do we may find that even they are too slack and slow on the draw to survive foreign competition.

But on the other hand when we consider that we can travel by jet to Los Angeles in about the same time it takes to drive from Lincoln to Grand Island by car at lawful speed, or walk to Ceresco by foot power it becomes clear that even double prowess in walking is a vain purpose in terms of primacy and survival in this age.

For that reason we conclude that except for a little transient activity by a few college boys with volatile imaginations America will not return to the footpaths and that the two British military men will return to England to receive something a good deal less than knighthood for their exercise.

Say Khrushchev Waited For Ike

WASHINGTON — There's a secret report in the State Department regarding the failure of the summit conference which Sen. Jack Kennedy of Massachusetts ought to lay his hands on. It strongly reinforces his hand against the gibes of his Democratic rival, Sen. Lyndon Johnson.

When Kennedy had the spunk to state, after the tragedy of Paris, that he would have expressed his "regret" to Khrushchev over sending a U-2 spy plane over Russia on the eve of the summit conference, Johnson proceeded to needle Kennedy in campaign speeches. Without mentioning Kennedy's name he shouted at his audience: "Would you have expressed your regret to Khrushchev? Do you want a man for president who would apologize to Khrushchev?"

Since then an interesting report on the summit failure has been written by Ambassador Randolph Burgess, former undersecretary of the treasury, now U.S. ambassador to NATO in Paris. Sen. William Fulbright, who was pressured by Johnson not to be critical of Eisenhower in his probe of the Paris fiasco, never took time to dig into a lot of things. So he never discovered this report.

However, the report bears out Kennedy that the summit conference might well have been saved by a frank face-to-face talk between Ike and Khrushchev. And if the Paris conference had been saved there would have been no humiliation in Tokyo.

The report reveals that when Prime Minister Macmillan called on Khrushchev, Sunday, May 15, in a desperate effort to salvage the conference, Khrushchev had pleaded, almost in a whining voice, that Eisenhower had made no effort to see him to explain the spy-plane incident. He was smarting from the fact that Russian air had been violated just before he was supposed to discuss peace in Paris. Nevertheless he indicated that things could be smoothed over if only the two men could talk privately.

However, Khrushchev insisted that Eisenhower, as the man who had publicly taken responsibility for violating Russian air space, must make the first approach. He made it clear that he was not going to drive over to the American embassy to see Eisenhower, the president would have to come to see him.

Prime Minister Macmillan promptly relayed this message to Eisenhower. He also urged the President to call on Khrushchev. Ike, however, refused.

Johnson Campaign Has Engine Trouble

WASHINGTON — Senate Majority Leader Lyndon Johnson has been an active candidate for the Democratic nomination for President nearly a month and in that time has failed to develop any significant new sources of strength.

Unless he has some hole cards he has not revealed, even to close friends, he will go to Los Angeles with little more than the 450 to 500 votes conceded to him at the start. It would be a good start if only the Kennedy bandwagon were not rolling along so impressively.

The Southwest, on which Johnson built great hopes, has divided its backing, losing him both actual delegates and national coloration. He had expected that the party conservatives and middle-roaders of the industrial states would raise their voices in his behalf, but this has not materialized.

Instead, the political leaders of these crucial areas, for whom Gov. G. Mennen Williams of Michigan has acted as a kind of bellwether, have more and more openly aired their preferences for Sen. John Kennedy. When it comes to candidates, the business interests among them are simply not as strong as Johnson and his fellow-Texan, Speaker Sam Rayburn, had thought on the basis of their congressional experience.

☆ ☆ ☆

The Johnson forces have contended that two powerful minorities in the warring coalition that composes his party — Labor and Negroes —ought to be neutral at least. They have been, and paradoxically it may have hurt the Texan who, having attracted few allies, might use a good enemy or two to advantage.

The fact is that these minorities are not emotionally for or against any of the presidential candidates, including Vice-President Richard Nixon. Their leaders are counselling them to maintain an alert neutrality at this point.

AFL - CIO President George Meany has gone to the extent of urging labor leaders to keep their heads down both at Los Angeles and Chicago. In another ostentatious gesture of neutrality, labor spokesmen are also giving a big testimonial dinner for Secretary of Labor James Mitchell on the eve of the conventions.

They sincerely feel that Mitchell has been their only real friend in the Eisenhower administration and has administered the department of labor with real understanding and justice. They would be glad to see him as vice-president on the Nixon ticket, though they have to admit it would sway few of their own votes if this happened.

☆ ☆ ☆

Of all the Democratic candidates, they would least prefer Johnson, but recognizing that he does not now seem to be making real progress, they are not eager to advertise the fact. After all, Johnson will still be majority leader if his presidential hopes fail and will be in a position to help or hinder legislation important to labor.

JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M. D.

To Your Good Health

The following letter comes to me on church stationery:

"I read your article on teenage smoking and profited from it. I am 18 and have been smoking for approximately a year, but recently have been reading up on it and its effects, and have cut down to about half as much as when I started.

Dr. Molner

"However, I can't seem to quit completely. I want to have one in my hands when I'm not doing anything worthwhile. Please suggest a way that will help me quit completely. I'm serious and earnest about quitting.—B.J.R."

I've noticed the American Cancer Society has concluded that if it expects to reduce cancer by reducing cigaret smoking, it might best concentrate its campaign on young people. As the old expression goes, "It figgers."

Any habit, whether it is smoking, being polite, eating a certain type of breakfast, clearing the throat, reading, or going to bed early (or late) — any habit grows stronger, the longer you do it.

Tobacco has a moderate habit-forming quality from the physical sense. Unlike narcotics, for example, it doesn't cause painful "withdrawal symptoms" when you stop. It is, in the main, just a habit, like any common habit.

The Cancer Society found that there is a relationship between the smoking of parents and the smoking of young people. If the parents are heavy smokers, the children are more likely to be. That's another characteristic of "habits." We all tend to do what the people around us do.

Another aspect—and this I am borrowing from a different field, drinking and Alcoholics Anonymous — is that faith and companionship are important. Many a "Hopeless" alcoholic has found that, once he admitted he was just a poor weak mortal and needed some help beyond himself, he could at last do what he didn't think he could do.

Habit — any habit — is a powerful thing. Social custom — "doing what everybody else does" — is powerful, too.

It seems to me that if I were 18 and wanted to quit smoking, I'd see if I couldn't find somebody else my age who smoked and go about quitting together. I'd make a deal with the other fellow that, once a day or once a week, I'd say, "Okay, I fell off and smoked X number of cigarets. How did you do?"

And I think, at 18, that I'd manage to stop, pretty soon, if that's what I really wanted to do.

Stopping entirely, the statistics indicate, is better for you from the standpoint of cancer as well as from the standpoint of other bodily health. But cutting down also helps.

☆ ☆ ☆

"Dear Dr. Molner: I would like to have plastic surgery on my face. All I want is my lips made smaller.—A. L."

There have been vast advances in plastic surgery in recent years, and a great deal is being done to correct flaws which mar the appearance.

I decline to say, offhand, whether your problem is one that can be handled by such a method, but I will tell you how to find the answer.

Go to a plastic surgeon (ask your own regular physician to refer you, or ask the aid of the hospital you go to). Plastic surgeons, as you might expect, are very proud of their workmanship, and do not, for their own sake as well as yours, want to tackle a task that does not promise reasonable assurance of success.

If the surgeon can help, he'll say so. If he can't help you, or at best can anticipate little improvement, he will tell you that, too.

In cases of the latter sort, judicious use of powder, coupled with a narrower band of lipstick on the lips, will often do a great deal to foster the illusion of thinner lips.

☆ ☆ ☆

Note to M. M.: Cancer is not transmitted from person to person, and clothing worn by a person with cancer cannot harm another. Just send the clothes to the laundry, and then make use of them in any way you choose.

"Dear Dr. Molner: I have diabetes and have gone to a laboratory for tests. Is 92 normal for blood sugar? The doctor told me I should lose weight.—S. N."

A reading of 92 is normal —I presume it is a test taken before breakfast. Up to 120 is normal before breakfast; 90 minutes after breakfast a reading of 150 or less is normal. Many diabetics who are overweight can get back to normal blood sugar if they reduce (as you evidently have) and can live normal lives without either insulin or the relatively new "diabetes pills." But you must keep your weight normal.

☆ ☆ ☆

"Dear Dr. Molner: Please give your opinion on contact lenses.—Mrs. M. M."

Contact lenses have a definite place in the world of eye correction. Your eye doctor can tell whether they will suit your particular case, and he will give you an idea of the cost as compared to regular glasses.

Dr. Molner welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Reader's questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

PIERRE J. HUSS

Disarmament Talks Test Red Intent

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. —Ten nations are currently sitting around the green table in Geneva talking about disarmament, a problem which has been the stronghold of the cold war and has defied solution in and out of U.N. for the past fourteen years.

The ten nations represent a balanced group from the East and West — the U.S., Britain, France, Italy, Canada, Russia, Poland, Czechoslovakia, Bulgaria and Roumania.

This panel on disarmament is not to be confused with the talks on stopping nuclear test explosions under way in the Geneva U.N. buildings between the atomic powers — Russia, the U.S. and Britain. France, although now considered a member of the nuclear club, has not yet been invited to join the group.

Both conferences, in a sense, are testing Soviet intentions in the wake of the May summit debacle, and particularly after Premier Nikita Khrushchev publicly proclaimed his intention to boycott President Eisenhower during the latter's remaining term of office.

In a press conference held in New York after the Security Council's refusal to censure the U.S. for the U2 flight over Russia, Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko hinted that his government planned on transferring both the nuclear test talks and the U.N. Assembly next September unless satisfactory progress can be achieved at Geneva. Past experience would give the impression that by stipulating "satisfactory progress," Gromyko meant that the West must accept Communist terms. To the Western powers, that is not progress but continued deadlock.

For the time being, the Russians at least have avoided any direct break-off of the Geneva conferences, although the U.S. has had to stand for intermittent needling by the Soviet bloc on the U2 spy incident. On the nuclear test suspension discussions, which before the summit appeared to be on the edge of agreement, the Soviet spokesman blows hot and cold. U.N. diplomats have a suspicion that the Kremlin at this stage of the cold war does not want to sign any agreement which would lower the international tension and which, above all, would compel Khrushchev to sign a treaty with the United States while President Eisenhower is still in the White House.

But in the disarmament field, the Russians once again took the initiative by submitting to the 10-nation group a revised scheme for ending the arms race within 18 months. To gain worldwide attention, the Kremlin injected some proposals calculated to demonstrate that the Soviet Union is willing to see eye-to-eye with some of the Western principles, provided the U.S., Britain and France bow to some key Soviet demands.

To start with — and in the opinion of several U.N. diplomats, to end it — Premier Khrushchev's new model for disarmament wants the United States to scrap its globe-girdling bases in exchange for elimination of means of delivering nuclear weapons. That is, any launching site for nuclear weapons or aircraft transporting warheads to the target would be eliminated.

Boiled down to the naked fact, such a single great leap into disarmament would strip the United States of what has been considered by the free world the mighty deterrent to war — the hydrogen bomb and implicit U.S. capability of delivering it to even remote targets in Russia.

It is the take-it-or-leave-it implication in the whole Soviet disarmament proposal which influences U.N. experts to believe that the Kremlin is again marking time and is exploiting the propaganda value of the Khrushchev proposal rather than pressing for progress toward agreement during the remainder of Eisenhower's term. Assuming that this Western reasoning is correct, the 10-nation confeence is wasting time and might as well disband to await the September session of the U.N. assembly.

Nevertheless, to the free world peoples, any proposal which would remove the horrible specter of nuclear blasts destroying millions of lives and whole cities within days is something on which to pin hope and give serious thought. French President de Gaulle made virtually the same offer early this year. But here again the suspicion justifiably arises in Western minds whether Khrushchev juggled this French position into his revised scheme as a serious negotiating intent or in the hope of causing a split among the allied atomic powers. For it can be stated authoritatively that neither the U.S. nor Britain will fall into a trap designed to strip them of atomic weapons until a fool-proof control and inspection system for both nuclear and conventional arms has gone into worldwide force.

The answer to Khrushchev on this point was firmly given by the British delegate to the Geneva disarmament talks, David Ormsby-Gore, who stressed that nuclear disarmament by itself could be a "fraud" and a sharp danger to the world. Insisting on a balanced program of disarmament, he said: "We must be careful not to build false hopes and dangerous illusions on nuclear disarmament. You cannot destroy human knowledge."

Tough Policy Urged To Halt 'Housemaid' Duties

Washington (UPI)—House investigators demanded Wednesday that the armed services take tough action against officers who wrongfully assign GI's to mix drinks, wash dogs or perform other menial chores.

If this is not done, the House Armed Services Subcommittee, said Congress should intervene with "definite legislative prohibitions in this area."

Calling attention to a new defense department regulation forbidding the use of enlisted men in housekeeping jobs, the subcommittee asked the services to "onsure strict compliance with this directive by providing that failure to observe its intent will result in positive disciplinary action."

Report

The recommendations were contained in a 17-page report on hearings the subcommittee conducted on charges the armed forces have been squandering manpower. An important phase of these hearings was testimony on the alleged misuse of GIs in servant capacities.

The services reported that only 2,100 enlisted men were authorized for assignment as aides to senior officers worldwide, and they claimed that no men were assigned to such work in excess of the allowance.

This the subcommittee could not swallow, expressing "the conviction that a substantially larger group of enlisted personnel are performing such functions regardless of the official authorization tables."

Personal

Not only that, the report said, in many instances the aides appeared to be doing work solely "for the personal convenience of the individual officer and his family without any relations to the officer's military responsibilities."

Prodded by the subcommittee, the defense department last Feb. 2 handed down a new regulation calculated to restrict the use of enlisted aides to work connected with the officer's job.

This could be "a constructive step toward the elimination of this area of manpower abuse," the subcommittee said, if properly implemented by the individual services. But it warned that the language of the regulation is such that "it does lend itself to permitting a continuation of the abuses."

The wording cited allows the services to assign GI's to general and flag officers, and certain other command officers, to provide "essential services" in the field and aboard ship, and "to assist these officers in the discharge of their official responsibilities to include assistance in the care of the quarters."

Mother And Three Children Hurt In 52nd And L Crash

A Lincoln woman and 3 of her young children were all treated for cuts and bruises at a local hospital and released after being injured in a two-car accident Wednesday morning at 52nd and L.

Police said a car driven by Jeane M. Rhoades, 28, of 5149 Randolph, was in collision with a car driven by Shirley A. Ebers, 26, of 633 No. 66th.

Mrs. Rhoades and her sons Richard, 6, and James, 1, and a daughter, Jeane, 4, were injured. Two of her other children Howard, 8, and Fredrick, 2, were not hurt.

Peru Grad Gets Instructorship

Peru — Harvey S. Ideus, a 1960 graduate of Peru State Teachers College, has been awarded a $2,500 instructorship at the University of Wyoming for the 1960-61 academic year.

Ideus, who received his Master of Science in Education degree from Peru State in 1959, will work toward his doctorate in the field of psychology and guidance. He is a graduate of Beatrice High School.

During the past year he has been guidance director at Minden High School, and previously was a member of the Willis (Kans.) High School.

Mrs. Ideus, the former Catherine Repp of Tecumseh, is enrolled in a pre-medical technology curriculum at Peru State this summer.

Use Of Peyote By 'Beats' Blasted

Washington (UPI) — The beatnik world was under federal warning Wednesday that peyote is for the tom-tom and cactus set and so bongo and coffee fanciers had better leave it alone.

Like, what the Food and Drug Administration means is that coffee houses can sell all the coffee they want but they'd better not sell peyote without a prescription.

Unless they cater to Indians, that is.

Peyote is a habit-forming, cactus-like herb. Some American Indians use it in religious ceremonies. But the word drifting is that some beatniks have been using peyote in non-religious rites, to conjure up wonderful dreams and intense visions.

So, without reservations, the coffee house set is facing a federal crackdown. The Food and Drug Administration seized 311 pounds plus 145 capsules of the herb at a beat coffee shop in New York City's Greenwich Village, and is looking into whether to repeat the act elsewhere.

FDA investigators who posed as way-out-there customers at the New York shop said they were asked: "Do you want coffee or peyote?"

The FDA says Peyote, while not classified as an illegal narcotic under either federal or state law, cannot be sold without a prescription and without warning that it is habit-forming.

No formal charges were filed against the coffee shop.

The incident, first seizure of peyote ever made by the federal government, was reported in the FDA's June enforcement and compliance bulletin.

An FDA spokesman said the agency had been "keeping an eye" on the sale of peyote for some time and made the seizure in a move to protect "people who want kicks." He said it was also the first known "flagrant violation of the law" involving the sale of peyote.

Aside from the danger of addiction, the FDA said it knew of no harmful effects from the drug.

They said garbage cans were used to soak peyote herbs in water, a wine press to remove the water and an automobile grease gun to inject the resulting powder into capsules.

FDA men estimated that the coffee shop owner had been netting $100 to $200 a week for about 8 months from his peyote sales. The peyote apparently was put into capsule form because of its "awful taste," the FDA spokesman said.

Escapees Likely To Be Charged Today

. . . Auto Theft, Robbery And Escape Counts Considered

By Del Harding

Charges probably will be filed Thursday against two Men's Reformatory escapees who were captured in McPherson, Kan., early Wednesday morning.

Chief Dep. Co. Atty. Paul Douglas said he would talk with the men — Roger W. Siers and Harry R. Hill, both 20 — before determining what charges to file. He indicated, however, that auto theft and possibly robbery counts in addition to escape are being considered.

Siers and Hill were captured about 3 a.m. by McPherson, Kan., police who had been alerted by Nebraska authorities of the pair's escape from the reformatory about 10 p.m. Tuesday after they had overpowered two guards and stolen a car. They offered no resistance when captured and were still wearing the clothing they had taken from the two guards.

220-Mile Trip

They were returned to the reformatory by Supt. Harold Smith and guards Ed Frame and Edward McEntarffer. They arrived back at the institution about 3:15 p.m. after the 220-mile trip from McPherson, which is straight south of Hebron, Neb.

McEntarffer, 52, of 4109 No. 12th, and Vincent Pvael, 61, who lives at the reformatory, were the guards overpowered during the escape.

McEntarffer gave this account of the escape:

About 9:30 p.m. Hill, a 6-1, 268-pound inmate from Omaha, called McEntarffer over to his cell in the isolation ward and told him the toilet stool was plugged.

Too Close

"I forgot myself and got too close and he grabbed me around the neck," the guard said. Then Hill forced McEntarffer to open his cell.

Then Hill dragged McEntarffer over to Siers' cell and freed Siers.

The inmates then took McEntarffer back to Hill's cell, forced him to strip, bound and gagged him, put a mattress over him and locked him in the cell.

Waited for Pavel

Then the inmates, Hill armed with a pocket knife he had taken from McEntarffer and Siers with a piece of pipe taken from a mop bucket, waited about 20 minutes for Pavel to come on duty.

When Pavel arrived they overpowered him, also took his clothes, bound and gagged him and locked him in a cell.

McEntarffer said the inmates told him they would not hurt him if he did not call out.

"I prayed no one would come in unexpectedly and alarm then," he said.

Thought To Be Guards

About 10 p.m. Hill, wearing Pavel's uniform, and Siers, wearing McEntarffer's uniform, walked up to the reformatory's main gate and were let out by a guard in the tower who thought they were guards going off duty.

The pair then went to McEntarffer's car (they had taken the keys from him) and drove away. They were still driving his car when captured.

Siers was serving terms of one year for carrying a concealed weapon and 3 years for felonious assault from Scotts Bluff County. He had been at the institution since last July.

Hill, serving a 2-4 year bad check term from Douglas County, had been at the institution since March of this year.

Both men had been put in the isolation section last week, Siers for refusing to work and Hill for disobedience of orders.

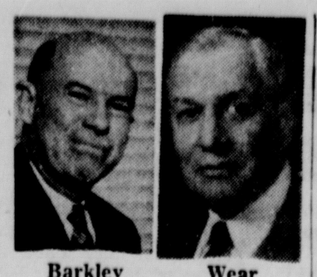
Mrs. Beechner Is Reappointed To Foundation Post

Mrs. Ralph Beechner of Lincoln has been reappointed Nebraska advisor on women's activities of the National Foundation.

The announcement quoted Basil O'Connor, president of the foundation, which is supported by the March of Dimes, as saying Mrs. Beechner will work closely with women's clubs, organizations and youth groups and with county chapters to help increase public awareness of the National Foundation's health program.

Mrs. Beechner is first vice president of the Nebraska Congress of Parents and Teachers and former president of the Lincoln PTA Council.

Barkley Is Named Union Bank Head



Barkley Wear

William E. Barkley has been elected president of the Union Bank to succeed C. H. Wear, who announced his retirement from the post at a meeting of the board of directors.

Wear, who started with the bank as a cashier in 1935, became executive vice president in 1953 and served as president since 1956. He will remain with the bank as chairman of the board and trust officer.

The retiring president marked his 50th year in banking last year. He began bank work at the age of 17 at Verdon.

Insurance Activities

Barkley, a director of the bank and nephew of the late W. E. Barkley, who organized Union Bank, is executive vice president of Knights Life Insurance Co.

Other bank officers elected for the ensuing year are: C. F. Pettey, executive vice president; J. T. Heaney, vice president; Katherine Dougan, vice president; A. E. Pine, assistant vice president; Joseph C. Martin, cashier, and Eugene A. Martin and Mrs. Marie Reis, assistant cashiers.

President Barkley said a detailed report comparing June 17, 1959, and June 17, 1960, statements indicated "a condition of consistently healthy growth and gratifying increase in earnings."

School For Reds

Hong Kong (AP) — The new China news agency reports Communist China plans to send every child over 6 to primary school by 1962 and every youngster to secondary school by 1967. The People's Daily recently reported illiteracy among Chinese laborers had dropped from 80 to 20% since 1949.

Once Again

Tokyo (UPI) — Communist China issued a new "serious warning" to the United States for an alleged violation of Chinese territorial air space by an American military patrol plane.

Argentina Asks U.N. To Brand Israeli Eichmann Snatch Illegal

United Nations, N.Y. (AP)—Argentina Wednesday called on the U.N. Security Council to brand Israel's actions in gaining custory of Adolf Eichman a violation of national sovereignty.

Israel admitted illegality in whisking Eichmann from Argentina, but said his role under the Nazi regime in liquidating 6 million Jews justified such action.

The United States upheld the Argentine contention that her soverignty was violated, but proposed that the council go on record in expressing hope for a friendly settlement.

The debate took placed in the 11-nation council after collapse of initial attempts to bring Argentine President Arturo Frondizi and Israel Premier David Ben-Gurion together in Europe for private consultations.

U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge said he agreed with the terms of an Argentine resolution before the council which called upon Israel to make adequate amends in the Eichmann case.

But he proposed that the resolution be amended to stress the council's concern that Eichmann be brought to justice for his part in massacres of Jews under Hitler.

Code Of Ethics Bill Has Stiff Penalties

Washington (AP) — After more than two years of investigations a house committee approved a code of ethics bill for government regulatory agencies.

However prospects for passage of the bill at this session of Congress appear dim.

The bill's chief provisions would brand it a criminal offense to make off-the-record contacts with agency members or employes during any formal proceedings being conducted on the public record. This is aimed at discouraging undercover efforts by anyone with financial stakes in matters before the agency.

Violators would be subject to criminal penalties of up to one year in prison and $10,000 fine.

The bill would apply to 6 agencies: The Federal Communications Commission, Federal Trade Commission, Federal Power Commission, Interstate Commerce Commission, Civil Aeronautics Board and the Securities and Exchange Commission.

Lincoln General Expansion Plans Are Not Canceled

The expansion program at Lincoln General Hospital will continue despite the fact that the hospital did not receive priority for Hill-Burton federal funds it was decided Wednesday at the regular board meeting of Lincoln General Hospital.

"The fact that we were not in the priority list to receive federal funds does not mean that our program has been thwarted by any means," stated Lincoln General Hospital Administrator Herbert Anderson. "We plan to take steps to develop the total project farther."

York Institution To Get South Dakota's Women Prisoners

South Dakota will soon start sending its women prisoners to Nebraska instead of Colorado, the Board of Charities and Corrections announced Wednesday at Pierre, S.D.

Although the Nebraska Board of Control has not taken any official action, it is likely the prisoners will be accepted because the population at the Women's Reformatory at York is lessening due to a more liberal parole arrangement, a representative said.

South Dakota, which has no detention facilities for adult women, had contracted with the Colorado Prison at Canon City for their internment for the last 10 years, but Colorado authorities have advised they will no longer have space after July 1.

South Dakota usually has only about 6 women penitentiary prisoners. Nebraska is already on a per diem contracting arrangement with Wyoming which averages about 6 women prisoners.

In the event the York Reformatory would be filled, Nebraska will take care of its own women prisoners first, a board representative said.

Veterinary Medicine Grants To 10 In State

Educational grants-in-aid to study veterinary medicine have been awarded to 10 Nebraska students.

The students will continue their veterinary education at Kansas State, Iowa State, Colorado State and Oklahoma State Universities.

Attending Kansas State will be George Baker of Ericson, Rex Cross of Trenton, Frederick Hanson of Bertrand, Terry T. Roberts of Tecumseh and Thomas Swerczek of Cedar Rapids.

Going to Iowa State will be Richard D. Jensen of Lincoln, John Lanz of Bassett and David Lott of York.

James T. Ridgeway of Albion will attend Colorado State and K. R. Mattheis of Lincoln will go to Oklahoma State.

The grants will not go to the students directly but will serve to cover the cost of out-state tuition. Students receiving the grants will not have to pay non-resident tuition.

The 10 students were selected from a list of candidates. They must remain in the upper half of their classes to remain eligible for the grant.

Last-Day Crash

BROOKS TO HAVE JULY CHRISTMAS AFTER MEETING OF GOVERNORS

It will be Christmas in July at the Governor's Mansion when Gov. and Mrs. Ralph Brooks return from the governors' Conference June 25-30 in Glacier National Park.

Gifts from 50 states' governors, traditional swapping of homegrown and homemade products, will be pouring in.

Last year, for instance, the Brooks' received a Pendleton blanket from Oregon's Gov. Mark Hatfield, a fishing rod from South Carolina, tie clasp and jewelry made of Black Hills gold, from South Dakota.

Puerto Rico, host to last year's conference, presented each governor with a picnic basket complete with coffee server and mugs.

There were commemorative tumblers from several states: Indiana's featured winners of the Indianapolis '500' race and Colorado's cited their Centennial.

Books about the states and cookbooks featuring regional recipes were also prominent in the gift-giving ritual.

Mac Presides

Oxford, England (AP) — Prime Minister Harold Macmillan presided for the first time as chancellor of Oxford University at Wednesday's Encaenia, the annual commemoration ceremony. Among 14 recipients of the honorary doctorate of civil laws was Macmillan's foreign secretary, Selwyn Lloyd.

Motorists Warned To Watch Kids

Safety Patrol Chief Col. C. J. Sanders Wednesday warned Nebraska motorists to watch out for children now that school has been dismissed.

Col. Sanders said the dismissal of schools for the summer has brought a large crop of bicycle riders on the streets and highways.

"One of the best ways to teach a youngster the importance of obeying bicycle safety rules is to deny him or her the right to ride for a few days," he said.

He noted that on June 19 there was a fatal bicycle-car accident on a county road near Plattsmouth, killing a 6-year-old girl.

This was the first death in the state since June 9, he said.

"The state having gone 9 days without a traffic death during a busy tourist season is a fine record and shows that if motorists will make driving a full time job and observe all the rules, traffic deaths can be reduced," he said.

Officers Discuss Juvenile Drinking In Cass County

Plattsmouth (AP)—Twenty-two law enforcement officers met in the Cass County sheriff's office to discuss methods of coping with rise in juvenile drinking.

Sheriff Tom Solomon of Cass County, who invited the law men to the two-hour meeting, said there has been a considerable problem of juvenile drinking along the Platte River. He said many juveniles come into the area with beer, and after consuming it they have been starting brawls and otherwise getting into trouble.

The officers agreed that stricter enforcement, exchange of information on violators, more thorough investigation of the source of alcoholic beverages obtained by minors may help the situation. The officers will meet in Plattsmouth again in 30 days to recheck the situation.

Represented at the meeting were the Nebraska Safety Patrol, the State Game Commission, the State Liquor Commission, the Offutt Air Force Base provost marshal, sheriffs officers from Douglas, Sarpy, Otoe and Cass Counties, and police chiefs from Louisville, Bellevue, Nebraska City and Plattsmouth.

There are 540,000 boats for recreation in the United States.

Savings In State Govt. Studied

Recommendations which could save Nebraska taxpayers several million dollars a year are being written into a report being prepared by a study committee of state senators, according to committee chairman Sen. Otto Liebers of Lincoln.

The Legislative Council Committee on Government Reorganization has for the past year been studying methods of improving state government and its procedures.

Details of the committee's recommendations will not be released until the committee delivers its report to the full legislative council in November, but Liebers said the 7 part program to be recommended will deal with such matters as investment of funds, space utilization, reorganization of some departments, and processing of data and records.

One Reformatory Escapee Arrested By Omaha Police

Omaha (AP) — Leonard P. Gruenwaldt, 22, of Papillion, who escaped from the Nebraska Reformatory early Monday, was arrested in Omaha.

His companion in the escape, William R. Hardy, 19, Omaha, still is at large.

Gruendwaldt and Hardy walked away from a work detail in Lincoln Monday. When arrested by Omaha police, Gruenwaldt was in a car stolen in Lincoln Monday.

The escapees were linked to a stolen auto when a filling station man in Lincoln reported to police that two men drove up Monday, got $4.50 worth of gasoline and drove away without paying for it.

The service station man, Bill Beckley, took down the license number and a police check showed the car to be a stolen auto.

State's Spring Pig Crop Down

Washington (AP) — The Agriculture Department estimated that Nebraska's spring pig crop would be sharply lower than last year. This is in line with a 16% decline nationally.

The USDA said the Nebraska spring pig crop will be 2,170,000 compared with 2,923,000 last year, a decline of 753,000.

The crop will provide the pork supply next fall and winter. The downturn is regarded as the producers reaction against a sharp drop in hog prices last year, and the indicated smaller crop virtually assures farmers considerably better prices for their spring crop hogs than a year ago, the USDA said.

Storm Scout

Oklahoma City (AP) — Pilot Jim Cook goes into the air whenever the weather is bad. He is an aerial scout for the U.S. Weather Bureau and flies through violent winds, hail and rain with his equipment-packed World War II P38.

Surplus Program Value Explained

Food surpluses which are distributed to foreign countries are a means of making friendships in other nations and improving international relations, Martin Garber, director of the food distribution division of the U.S. Department of Agriculture, said Wednesday.

However, Garber pointed out that food surpluses are distributed to foreign countries only after domestic needs are met.

The first domestic outlet for surpluses is the school lunch program, Garber, who was in Lincoln to address the annual convention of the Nebraska School Food Service Assn., said.

Other Outlets

The other two domestic outlets are needy people in institutions and needy families.

"In our land of plenty you still find depressed areas," Garber said.

For an example, he pointed out, in West Virginia, some 300,000 of the two million population receive surplus commodities. Most of these families are coal miners who are presently out of work, as a result of progress in mass production, he said.

"One person can now do the work which required services of 20 10 years ago."

The only stipulations put on the distribution of surplus commodities for the school lunch program — the main domestic outlet — is that the lunch program be non-profit and that any youngster who cannot afford the lunch either be given it free, at a reduced rate, or have the privilege of working for it, he added.

Distribution

After these domestic needs are met, the food distribution division distributes between $400 and $500 million worth of surpluses through some 20 church organizations to send to needy people in foreign countries.

Not only do these surpluses aid in the building of international friendships, but they also help to develop markets for United States' products in other countries, Garber said.

Wheat, corn and cotton amount to about 90% of the United States' surpluses.

Petitions To Junk Education Board Number 36,981

The official signature count of the Nebraska School Improvement Assn. petition stood at 36,981 Wednesday, over 5,000 short of its goal, the Nebraska secretary of state's office reported.

The petition is aimed at abolishing the state board of education and giving its powers to an elected official, a system followed until changed by the voters with a constitutional amendment in 1953.

The deadline for the petitions, required to place the proposition on the November ballot, is July 7.

Governors To Get Steaks From Brooks

Four of Nebraska's finest steaks will be shipped directly to the nation's 49 other governors by Gov. Ralph Brooks as a gift marking the national Governor's Conference June 26.

The steaks were provided through the courtesy of the Nebraska Stock Growers Assn.; its president, Chet Paxton of Thedford, and Nixon and Co., Omaha feed dealers.

One of the 4-steak packages will also be shipped to Glacier National Park for display at the conference.

Other gifts which will be presented to the 49 governors by Brooks include:

—assorted meats from the Prairie Maid Meat Products Co., of Lincoln.

—salomi from the Cudahy Packing Co., Omaha.

—wrenches from the Petersen Manufacturing Co., Inc., of DeWitt.

—autographed copies of "Son of the Gambling Man," by native Nebraskan Mari Sandoz.

—ice cream toppings from the O-So-Good Food Products Co., of Omaha.

Evangelist Lists 7 Rules For Marital Success

Washington (UPI) — Using the Bible as a practical handbook in marital relations, evangelist Billy Graham Wednesday night listed 7 rules for achieving a successful marriage.

"How to have a happy home" was the subject of Graham's sermon at the fourth meeting of his 8-day crusade in Griffith baseball Stadium.

Graham said he receives an average of 10,000 letters a week, and "at least half of them" are seeking guidance on marital and family problems.

From Bible

He said the best advice he can give any couple is to study the specific, down-to-earth teachings found in the Bible. He summarized these teachings as follows:

1. "When you marry, remember you are saying 'yes' for a lifetime." Marriage is a "divine institution" and those who enter into it take a "sacred vow and are accountable to God" for keeping that vow permanently.

2. "God safeguards the marriage relationship by imposing the severest possible penalties upon unfaithfulness and adultery." To cheat on your mate is "one of the greatest sins that any person can commit."

3. "The Bible teaches that the wife is to obey, submit, love and even reverence her husband." This doesn't mean that "the husband is to be a tyrant or a dictator." But "the woman who is unwilling that her husband be the head of the house ought not to get married."

4. The wise wife will look her best when her husband comes home from work and "meet him with a kiss." She will "keep the house clean and curtail unnecessary expenditures." She won't "gossip, nag or complain."

5. "The Bible also lays down responsibilities for husbands. They are to love their wives, provide for their families, and be faithful to them." "Be generous with your wife. Give her spending money each week for which she is not accountable. Always be a gentleman and courteous as you were before you were married. Help her to stay young."

6. "A man is not to love his parents any the less, but he is not to allow them to meddle in his family life."

7. "Take time with your children. God holds the husband responsible for the spiritual life in the home." The Bible also teaches that children should be disciplined, firmly and promptly but "with great love." Parents should give their children religious training at home but "above all, set a good example." "Children learn more by watching than they do by hearing."

"No marriage that has successfully sought God's will will ever break up," said Graham, who has been happily married for 16 years and has 5 children.

EUB Speaker Says Church Must Reach Urban People

"The church is not keeping up its responsibilities to the congregation as it evolves from a rural to an urban community."

This is the trend noted by the Rev. J. Russel Mead, featured speaker for the second day's meetings of the Evangelical United Brethren Conference being held at the Calvary EUB Church in Lincoln.

The Rev. Mead, EUB Nebraska conference statistician, reported that interdenominational Christian missionaries circuited pioneer settlements in old Nebraska and established congregations in every hamlet and community.

Congregations Dwindle

But today, he continued, Nebraskans move into the cities and leave these congregations with but a handful of people.

He added that the conference lost more than 1,000 members last year and added only 766. This left the current membership about 12,900.

Must Reach Urbanites

While the EUB church in Nebraska has been mainly rural in character, it must concentrate its efforts to reach urban communities, he concluded.

Dr. Paul H. Eller, president of Evangelical Theological Seminary at Naperville, Ill., advised the 150 delegates to "ask what they can do for Christianity rather than what Christianity can do for them."

Wednesday's meeting was concluded with an address by the Rev. Charles G. Bartsch, regional secretary of World Missions, Denver, Colo.

The Rev. Paul L. Dick of Kearney was re-elected conference secretary. Further elections are slated for the Thursday meeting.

Parkway Signal Out

A "3 way signal" traffic warning sign in the median of 27th St. on the north side of Capital Parkway was broken as a result of a two-car accident, police said.

State Weather Forecast To Be Split In 2 Parts

The Nebraska weather forecasts will soon be divided into two parts, according to R. E. Myers, Lincoln Weather Bureau meteorologist.

About July 1, the Denver office will issue the forecasts for the "Panhandle of Nebraska," and the Kansas City office will prepare the "Nebraska except Panhandle" forecasts.

Southeastern Nebraska weather predictions have previously been sent from Kansas City through Omaha, but will now be handled directly from Kansas City and modified for this area by the Lincoln bureau.

Severe storm warnings from the bureau will continue to operate without change.

Indians Sacrifice Boy, Squaw To Quake Gods

Temuco, Chile (AP)—Reviving an ancient tribal rite, Araucanian Indians have sacrificed a 6-year-old boy and an 86-year-old squaw to the gods held responsible for the south Chile earthquakes and tidal waves, police reported.

The Indian boy and his grandmother were beaten to death and their bodies thrown into the Pacific Ocean.

The machi (medicine man) accused of performing the sacrifice was arrested along with an Indian who bound the victims for the rites.

The boy's parents drowned in a tidal wave that killed 630 persons in Puerto Saavedra May 22.

2,000 Petitions For Separate Juvenile Court Are Secured

Petitions containing some 2,000 signatures have been completed for the purpose of securing an election this fall on the proposal to have a separate Juvenile Court in Lancaster County, according to the Lancaster County Juvenile Court committee.

The office of the secretary of state reported Wednesday that petitions carrying 558 valid signatures of Lancaster County voters have been filed in that office to date.

A total of 2,058 signatures must be obtained to put the question on the general election ballot.

Number Cited

Supporters of the establishment of a separate juvenile court point out that 1,500 juveniles came into contact with the Lincoln police during the past year, and 400 were reported to the probation office or other agencies.

"Even more may have needed the services of a juvenile court or probation service. In two years we will have double the present teenage population," the juvenile court committee points out.

Petitions

According to Dr. LeRoy Laase, committee chairman, Parent-Teacher Associations, many churches and other groups are circulating petitions and petitions have been signed at many service club luncheons.

Mrs. Eleanor Enersen, delegate to the White House Conference on Children and Youth, states that the proposal to have a separate juvenile court in Lancaster County is in fulfillment of a recommendation of the Conference, stating:

"That the effective control and correction of delinquency requires a specialized and adequately-staffed court presided over by a full-time qualified judge."

Two Airlines On Schedule Again Following Strike

By United Press International

Eastern and Pan-American airlines planes flew on a business-as-usual basis Wednesday.

Pilots of the two lines gave up an unauthorized strike and returned to their controls without winning their point that government inspectors should not occupy the third pilot's seat in jet plane flights.

Pan-American reported all flights operating on schedule. Eastern said all its crews were reporting and the only problem was in getting planes back to the right places.

The back-to-work movement began Monday under the nudging of federal courts and Air Line Pilots Association officials.

Federal Judge Julius H. Miner in Chicago continued to Friday a hearing on a temporary order restraining pilots of Pan-American, Trans World and American airlines from boycotting jet plane flights on which Federal Aviation Agency inspectors claim the third seat.

NCO School Demonstrates 'One Army'

Of the 53 men enrolled in the Nebraska National Guard's 2-week non-commissioned officer school being held at Camp Ashland, 10 are members of the Army Reserve and 7 of these belong to Lincoln units.

Maj. Joseph Jelinek, commandant of the school, said the fact that Army Reservists are attending the program proves the "One-Army" concept is a thing of reality at the camp and not just a matter for debate.

The major pointed out that interest in the NCO program has grown tremendously during the past year, this being the 2nd such school conducted by the Nebraska Guard.

The guardsmen and reservists will receive some 96 hours of formal training in leadership, weapons, maintenance, organization, map reading and methods of military instruction.

Maj. Jelinek said although the NCO school is not a prerequisite for attending the OCS academy, the program is definitely beneficial to a man who desires to go into the commissioned ranks.

Dear Abby--

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: What happens to people when they get behind the wheel of an automobile? I have seen drivers (both men and women) behave in the rudest, most inconsiderate manner. (From crowding other motorists off the streets to deliberately pulling into a parking space that someone is obviously struggling to back into.) I've seen them blast their horns at pedestrians and other drivers and cuss them out in vulgar language. Does something "psychological" happen to people when they get in the driver's seat? I am sure these same people in other circumstances would be charming, considerate ladies and gentlemen.

CONSIDERATE WOMAN DRIVER

DEAR WOMAN DRIVER: You are mistaken. One who is basically considerate and kind does not suddenly become rude, selfish and uncivilized when he gets behind a wheel. He is merely being his ugly self because he thinks he will never see those he offends again.

☆ ☆ ☆

DEAR ABBY: What should a widow do with her rings? Does she tranfer them to her right hand? Or does she put them away altogether? What if she has children? It doesn't look right for a mother to walk around without a wedding band. Yet, if I wear my wedding band and meet an eligible man he'll think I am married. And if I wear my engagement ring, he'll think I am engaged. There must be other young widows who are also wondering, so won't you please answer me in your column?

YOUNG WIDOW

DEAR YOUNG WIDOW: Widows who are interested in remarrying should put their rings away.

☆ ☆ ☆

DEAR ABBY: When a person receives a greeting card for his birthday, anniversary, graduation, Easter, going-away or get well, is it necessary to thank the sender? I say it is kind of silly.

If you write to the person who sent the card what are you supposed to say, "Thanks for the card"? Then, by rights, the person who gets thanked will have to write back and say, "You're welcome." It is just too much trouble. I'd rather be left alone.

LAZY

DEAR LAZY: Hold that attitude and you WILL be left alone. A card is an expression of thoughtfulness and should not be ignored. A "thank you" by phone (if possible) for his "thoughtfulness" (not "card") is a common courtesy which, unfortunately, is becoming more uncommon every day.

☆ ☆ ☆

Dear ABBY: About that simple-minded young wife who waits until her husband falls asleep at night to pin up her hair, and then gets up early to comb it out so he won't see her in pincurls: I wonder if he gets up in the middle of the night to shave so his wife won't see him with a beard?

Guests, Parties, In The Ayem News

—Interesting news again this morning. We have guests to mention, a communique from the Bassinet crowd AND news of brides-elect.

We'll begin with the guests and tell you that Mrs. Robert Ferguson (Nancy Gosh) and her four daughters, Susan, Betsy, Peggy and Nancy, arrived from went to Omaha to join Mr. Lake Forest, Ill., to spend several days as the house guests of Mr. Ferguson's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Richard D. Ferguson.

Today Mrs. Ferguson will share honors with Mrs. Rems Heiny of Santa Barbara, Venezuela, when a group of Delta Gammas are together for a no hostess luncheon at the Lincoln Country Club.

—Leaving earlier this week to return to their home in Idaho Falls, Idaho after a brief visit in Lincoln were Mr. and Mrs. Norman Veach and their three children who were the house guests of Mr. Veach's parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Ray Veach. Last Saturday the visitors and Mr. and Mrs. James R. Veach, went to Omaha to join Mr. and Mrs. Robert Veach and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Veach, and their families, at a picnic.

Norman Veach, incidentally, is a physicist engineer at the National Atomic Reactor Testing Station near Idaho Falls.

* * *

—Right now we roll out a plush carpet for a very young Miss Burton who arrived on Tuesday, June 21, at Lincoln General Hospital. The young lady is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Robert Burton, and her mother is the former Judy Flansburg, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Harry E. Flansburg — and Kappa Alpha Theta at Nebraska. Mr. and Mrs. Millard Burton of Falls City are the paternal grandparents.

You also may be interested in the news that Miss Burton has twin second cousins who also arrived at Lincoln General on Tuesday. The babies are the daughters of Mr. and Mrs. John Morehead of Falls City.

* * *

—When we mentioned brides a moment ago we had in mind Miss Virginia Schilling, who has an August date for her marriage to Don Campbell for whom prenuptial courtesies are underway.

On Wednesday Miss Schilling was complimented by Mrs. Steven Watkins, Mrs. Glenn Johnston, Mrs. Gray Jewett and Mrs. Lyle Hans, who were luncheon hostesses at the home of Mrs. Watkins. Luncheon places were arranged for 35, and the bride-elect was presented with a linen shower.

* * *

—And on Sunday evening Miss Schilling and her fiance will share honors at a 6 o'clock supper for which Dr. and Mrs. G. T. Warren, Mr. and Mrs. Dan Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Reische and Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Rothenberger, will be hosts and hostesses at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Warren.

Also on the party guest list will be Mr. Campbell's mother, Mrs. Doris Campbell.

Courtesies For Late June Brides

One of the popular soon-to-be brides is Miss Jeannette Fitzwater whose marriage to Raymond Pickles will be solmenized on Sunday, June 26.

This morning Miss Fitzwater makes announcement of the attendants at the wedding which will take place at the Second Baptist Church.

For her maid of honor Miss Fitzwater has chosen Miss Carol Heffleger of Burbank, Calif., and the bridesmaids will be Miss Sharon Erickson, Miss Ginger Pegans, and Miss Lynn Hogge. The bride-elect's sister, Pamela Fitzwater will be a page.

Maynard Stevens of Nathalie, Va., will serve Mr. Pickles as best man, and seating the guests will be Walter Immomen of Butte, Mont.; Michael S[illegible] of Waterbury, Conn., and Clyde Kerley.

Miss Fitzwater has been honored at numerous courtesies and among the recent parties was the personal shower for which her bridesmaids, Miss Erickson and Miss Pegans, were hostesses, and a miscellaneous shower for which the bride's mother, Mrs. Paul Fitzwater was hostess.

On Tuesday evening Miss Fitzwater was in the role of hostess when she entertained at a supper at Hotel Cornhusker. The guest list included her attendants.

On the calendar for Friday evening, following the wedding rehearsal, is a picnic supper for which the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Fitzwater, will be host and hostess at their home when they entertain the members of the bridal party.

Honoring Miss Clarice Bremer and her fiance, Darrell Bailey, on Sunday, June 26, will be Mrs. Virgil Wommer and Mrs. Bernard Bremer when they entertain at the home of Mrs. Wommer in Minden. During the prenupital courtesy the couple will be presented with a miscellaneous shower.

Entertaining in courtesy to Miss Bremer on Sunday afternoon, June 19, were Miss Edith Williams, Mrs. Paul Weber, Mrs. Craig Yocom, and Mrs. Delma Lefler who were co-hostesses at a dessert luncheon and personal shower at the home of Mrs. Yocom.

Recent courtesies for Miss Bremer, whose wedding will be an event of Sunday, July 10, at the First Methodist Church in Minden, include the miscellaneous shower given by Mrs. L. E. Applebee, and Mrs. Marwin Bailey. Mr. Bailey's mother and sister-in-law at the home of Mrs. Bailey in Lincoln and a one-gift shower given the summer bride by the members of the Alpha Lambda chapter of Epsilon Sigma Alpha business girl's sorority at the home of Miss Yvonne Lewandowski.

Miss Bremer was presented with a miscellaneous shower at a dessert supper when Mrs. Ed Wommer entertained in her honor at the home in Minden.

Opening lead — three of diamonds.

The defenders would have to do a lot of guessing to get the best result in a given hand, if it were not for conventions that have been devised to aid them in finding the best defense. Among these conventions is the one known as the "trump echo."

When the declarer is playing a suit contract, it is frequently valuable for a defender to know how many trumps his partner has. This problem is often solved by making use of the trump echo.

This is the way it works: Suppose a defender is dealt the 6-5-4 of trumps. If he plays the five at one point and later plays the four—in other words, plays high-low—he thereby shows that he started with three trumps.

As a corollary, in this convention, if a defender plays the four and then the five, he denies that he started with three trumps, and thus also gives partner valuable information.

The trump echo can be of vital service to the defense, as is illustrated in today's deal. West led a diamond and East had no trouble reading the lead as a singleton. He won with the ace and played back with the eight, which West trumped with the four.

West returned the four of spades and the king lost to the ace. Declarer led the king of hearts, on which West played the two and East the ace.

Now East was faced with a problem of sorts. If West had the queen of spades, a spade return might be essential to defeat the contract.

But if West did not have the queen, then the only chance of setting the hand would lie in returning a diamond for West to ruff again. This possibility depended, however, on whether West had another trump, that is whether West had been dealt three hearts originally.

East had observed, though, that West had played first the four and then the deuce of hearts. Since this constituted a trump echo, showing a third trump, East returned a diamond and defeated the contract.

Fun News In Suburbia

EASTBOROUGH

Now that summer has officially begun, it is not too early to be mentioning the vacation plans of Eastborough residents.

Leaving the first of July for a two-month visit on the west coast, specifically in Spokane and Seattle, are Mrs. Vern Willer and her three children, Chris, Kevin, and Cary.

A recent fun party we hear, was the surprise housewarming at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Adair at 216 So. Cotner. Fourteen guests greeted the couple who recently moved to Lincoln from Germany where they were married.

Visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Don Mitchell during the week end was Mr. Mitchell's father, J. C. Mitchell of Arkansas City, Kan. Mr. Mitchell returned home Monday

Guests arriving at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Morgan today are Mr. and Mrs. Monte Morgan and their sons, Craig and Bruce of Cincinnati. Another visitor at the Morgan home this week end will be Mr. Morgan's mother, Mrs. Ann Morgan, of Washington, D.C. From Lincoln, Mrs. Morgan will go to Ohio where she will spend some time before she leaves for Germany where she plans to teach next fall.

The welcome mat is out for Mr. and Mrs. Robert Combs and their seven month-old son, William Price. Formerly of 1540 South 20th, the family moved into the home at 337 Prestwick Rd., the latter part of May.

Neighbors are happy to welcome Mr. and Mrs. Kent Winker and their son, Jeffery, who is two years old. The Winkers moved last Wednesday to their new address at 600 E. Eldora Lane.

And on Friday, June 17, the newest member of the Winker family, little Timothy Lee, was born at Brayn Memorial Hospital. His father is a Phi Kappa Psi at the University of Nebraska. Timothy's grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Nieman of Beatrice and Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Winker, also of Beatrice.

Understand that some more new residents in Eastborough are Mr. and Mrs. William Palmer and their children, Billy who is ten, eight year-old Eddie, and six year-old Kathy. Formerly of Grants, N.M., the Palmers new are living at 632 Eastborough.

COUNTRY CLUB TERRACE

News from Country Club Terrace this ayem centers around neighbors who have moved from Lincoln and new neighbors who recently have moved to the suburb.

On the list of those families who moved from Lincoln are Capt. and Mrs. William Davern and their sons, Don, Keith and David. Also leaving with the Daverns on Friday were Capt. and Mrs. Richard Westermann and their two children, Steve and Susie. Both families will be living at Selfridge Air Force Base, Mt. Clemens, Mich.

Farewell courtesies for the departing neighbors included a coffee given by Mrs. Eugene Brooks last Tuesday morning at her home when both Mrs. Davern and Mrs. Westermann were the honored guests.

And last Wednesday evening Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Garber were dinner hosts at their home in Fiene Heights at a farewell courtesy for the Daverns.

And we spoke of newcomers to the suburb. The welcome mat is out for Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Masters who now call 5303 Stockwell in Country Club Terrace their home.

Also new to the suburb and to Lincoln are Capt. and Mrs. Otto L. Kovar, Jr., and their children. Formerly of Wichita, Kan., the family now is settled at 2510 Woods Blvd. The younger members of the family are five year-old Annette; Joy, who is four years old, and one year-old Nancy. Capt. Kovar is presently attached to the 343rd Bomb Squadron.

INDIAN VILLAGE

It is our pleasure to introduce this morning a new member to the talcum powder set. The new arrival is Randy Scott Kuhl, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Kuhl who arrived on Monday, June 6, at St. Elizabeth Hospital. Mrs. Kuhl is the former Doris Frymire.

Among the young man's most ardent admirers are his sister, Tina Marie, who is one year-old, and his maternal grandmother, Mrs. Bertha Frymire of Galesburg, Ill.

New residents of Indian Village as of the first of the month are Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Page and their three year-old daughter, Judy Lynne. Formerly living at 6402 Dudley, the Pages now are settled at their new address, 1233 Dakota.

Additional newcomers to the suburb are Mr. and Mrs. Edgar L. Schwaninger and their young son, Scott. Their new address is 1601 Calvert.

The neighbors are happy to welcome Mr. and Mrs. Vestal Cook and their two sons, two year-old Robert Dale and Vestal Stephen who is six years old. They are now settled in the home at 1443 Sioux.

And we also should mention that Vestal Cook was just six yesterday. To celebrate the festive day, he invited 12 of his young friends to his new home for an afternoon party and the traditional birthday menu of cake and ice cream.

NORTHEAST HEIGHTS

Visiting at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Logan, is Midshipman H. Edmund Logan. The young man, who attends the Naval Academy in Annapolis, Md., will visit in Lincoln for a few weeks and then depart for a month Mediterranean naval cruise.

Neighbors are happy to welcome Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Tracey and their daughter, Shirley to Northeast Heights. The Traceys moved into their home at 3001 North 64th St. from their former address, 6244 Fremont.

PERSHING HEIGHTS

A look at our birthday book tells us that Craig Overbeck, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leon Overbeck, celebrated his seventh birthday anniversary last Thursday. Several of his young friends came over to the Overbeck home in the afternoon and then stayed for dinner as a means of helping Craig celebrate.

Joining in the festivities were Brad Schuman, Jerry Barnett, Joey Laub, Kurt Doerr, and of course, Russell Overbeck.

Install Officers

The Lincoln Toastmistress Club held its meeting and installation of officers on Monday at the American Legion Club. Toastmistress for the evening was Miss Josephine Eyen. Mrs. Wallace Peterson was the topic mistress and Miss Esteline Porter, the general evaluator.

Guests, Mrs. Roy A. Bitler and Mrs. Donald Beck, and members heard the speakers, Mrs. Franklin Wiebeck and Mrs. John Kuhl, with their respective topics, "Father's Day" and "Knock on Wood."

Installing the officers for the coming year was Mrs. William Schwog, president of the Aksarben Toastmistress Club. Presiding at meetings will be the club president, Mrs. Ava Griffin; vice president is Mrs. Wallace Peterson; treasurer, Miss Harriet Turner; secretary, Mrs. Ruth Woodworth; and club representative, Miss Esteline Porter.

KENNEDY PREDICTS:

Voters Will 'Retaliate By Electing Democrat

Camden, N.J. (AP) — Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass) predicted that "massive retaliation" by voters against the Eisenhower administration will put a Democrat in the White House.

And Kennedy made it clear that if he is the man so chosen he will try to be a "creative, dynamic" president ready to shoulder personally all of the responsibilities of the office.

Kennedy, a leading candidate for the party's nomination, indicted President Eisenhower's handling of the nation's affairs in a speech prepared for a Democratic dinner.

'Not Little Men'

He said the President alone, and not "the little men with little vision in the budget bureau," must make the decisions and furnish the leadership needed by the free world in a critical period.

"He cannot share this power, he cannot delegate it, he cannot adjourn," Kennedy said. "He alone is the chief of state."

Kennedy also said that if nuclear tests are to be halted and disarmament made a reality the president must lead the way, "and not leave it to the warped judgment of the Atomic Energy Commission and the Pentagon."

"And if India is to be saved —if the missile gap is to be closed—if we are to help Latin American democracies (instead of dictators) — the decision is his alone," he said.

'Must Lead Policy'

Kennedy stressed that a president must put his own stamp on foreign policy programs. He said only when the president is overshadowed do such programs bear the name of the secretary of state.

He said the late Secretary John Foster Dulles will be remembered "for the dangerous straitjacket of massive retaliation and liberation, from which a Democratic president must — and will — liberate us after a massive retaliation by the people next November."

"Certainly," he continued, "the president should use his secretary of state. But he should be the captain on the bridge, and not leave it to the helmsman to sail without direction."

Erwin Roewert Is Treated For Hurts After 2-Car Crash

Erwin Roewert, 49, of 1742 M, was treated for a head cut at a local hospital and released after he was injured Wednesday morning in a two-car accident at 17th and K.

Police said Roewert was a passenger in a car driven by Rose R. Nystrom, 36, of 1561 So. Cotner, when it was in collision with a car driven by Helen L. Moore, 40, of 950 Furnas.

Motorcycle Raiders Sought After 'Gospel Tent' Attack

Cincinnati, Ohio (UPI) — Deputies combed the countryside Wednesday for a band of motorcycle riders who raided the gospel tent of a blind preacher and broke up a crowded prayer meeting.

The 10 cyclists scattered 75 worshippers, upset chairs, and with their switch blade knives slashed ropes and canvas. They roared off into the summer night leaving about $8,000 damage in their wake.

The incident occurred at nearby Miamitown during a revival service led by the Rev. Maurice Ivie, a widely followed evangelist who formerly broadcast gospel programs on a radio station in nearby Middletown.

Police arrested Richard B. Terman, 29, and Jean Saffelder, 19, in a tavern close by. But Terman claimed he did not own a motorcycle and had nothing to do with the raid.

Worshippers identified Terman and Miss Saffelder as members of the invading gang, and police charged the pair with disturbing a religious meeting and maliciously destroying property.

Terman was released on $2,000 bond, and Miss Saffelder was held in lieu of $1,000 bond.

No one was hurt in the melee. Friends of Rev. Ivie began the task of repairing the canvas church which the gang threatened to tear down if he called the police. When they began slashing at the ropes he called the police.

The tent remained standing but sagging after the ordeal. Police said the gang may be one which preys on church meetings, since another disturbance occurred at the tent earlier but was not reported.

Gage Co. Abstracts Show Rise

Stocks and bonds led the increases in all 3 types of taxable property reported to the Nebraska tax commissioner's office Wednesday by Gage County, of which Beatrice is the county seat.

Abstracts from Gage, Garfield and Nuckolls Counties brought the total to 29 checked by the office.

Gage County reported tangible property of $173,646,260, an increase over the $169,408,445 reported last year, and intangible "A" property, cash and accounts receivable, of $12,292,020 compared to $11,012,635 last year.

The largest increase, however, was in Class "B" intangibles, stocks and bonds, up to $17,446,095 from $11,917,175 last year.

The other counties reported the following (last year's figures in parenthesis):

Garfield — Tangible, $21,402,533 ($21,590,913); Class A, $1,355,504 ($1,081,781); Class B, $652,038 ($481,086).

Nuckolls — Tangible, $58,063,520 ($57,653,825); Class A, $4,163,500 ($4,754,100); Class B, $2,441,460 ($1,517,565).

Selection Of Pony Express Queen Planned

Oshkosh (UPI) — The selection of the Nebraska Pony Express centennial queen will highlight a program Sunday of the Garden County Saddle Club.

Burt Johnson of Oshkosh said the queen and two attendants would be chosen.

The queen will be invited to appear at Pony Express celebrations across the state during the Pony Express rerun July 19-28.

The queen candidate will appear on horseback in western attire. She will be selected on the basis of horsemanship, appearance and personality.

Weather Ahead

Nebraska temperatures for the next 5 days will average about 8 degrees below normal. Little warmer Saturday. Normal highs are mid-80s; normal lows upper 50s west to lower 60s east. Precipitation will average around .75 of an inch east and central to about .50 of an inch west occurring as showers and thunderstorms about middle of period.

. . . Leaders Maintain Streaks

Detroit, (AP)—Kent Hadley slugged a pair of home runs and Roger Maris hit his 20th of the season Wednesday night, pacing the streaking New York Yankees to a 7-3 bombardment of the Detroit Tigers before 30,394 spectators.

Hadley, filling in for the injured Bill Skowron at first base, drove in 3 runs with his 2nd and 3rd home runs. Maris, the American League's top home run hitter and run producer, hit a Hank Aguirre 3-0 pitch into the upper right field deck with a mate aboard in the 8th.

For the league-leading Yankees, it was the 6th victory in a row, the 13th in 14 games and the 15th in 17.

Art Ditmar scattered 8 hits, including solo home runs by Al Kaline and Rocky Colavito, for his 6th triumph. Ryne Duren bailed Ditmar out of trouble in the 9th.

Colavito broke Detroit's 28-inning scoring famine with his 11th home run in the second inning. Kaline hammered his 7th in the 8th inning. Charlie Maxwell singled across Detroit's other run in the 6th.

Chiefs Snare Even Break

. . . Drop Opener, Win 4-3

Lincoln Star Special

Cedar Rapids, Ia.—Dick Selinger's pinch-single with two out in the 9th inning drove in the winning run Wednesday night as the Lincoln Chiefs stopped Cedar Rapids in the second game of a doubleheader. The Braves copped the opener, 5-1.

Dan Adams was perched on 3rd after tripling when Selinger stepped up for winning pitcher Ron Woods.

Cedar Rapids opened scoring with two runs in the 5th on 3 Lincoln errors.

The Chiefs' catcher Al Alvarez and Cedar Rapids' outfielder Joe Trenary were shaken up in a collision at home plate in the 5th. Trenary scored on the play but was hurt too badly to continue the game. Alvarez stayed in.

Lincoln came right back in the 6th with two solo homers by Gene Johnson and Manley Johnston.

In the 7th Don Buford tripled and Woods singled him home.

The Braves tied it up in the bottom of the 7th on Phil Roof's homer.

Three Cedar Rapids homers did the damage in the opener.

Braves Eugene Johnson, Tom Aaron and Joe Trenary each hit for the circuit, driving in all 5 runs. It was the 12th homer for Johnson.

Lincoln got its only run in the 6th when Gary Johnson walked and came around on successive singles by Dean Look and Shot Johnston.

Ed Szyczewski, who fired a two-hit win over Burlington last week, absorbed his 3rd loss against two wins.

The Chiefs, who have won 6 of their last 8 games, move to Sioux City for a 4-game set tonight.

Police Protection Controversy May Shift 3rd Title Fight Out Of NY

New York (AP) — The storm about the crowd handling at Monday's heavyweight title fight continued Wednesday with statements from the police commissioner, the promoters and the boxing commission. The squabble enhanced the chances of Los Angeles, Chicago or Dallas as possible sites for the 3rd match.

Bill Fugazy, a director of Feature Sports, Inc., promoting its first fight, estimated the actual Polo Grounds crowd at 55,000, including 15,000 to 20,000 gate crashers. The paid attendance was announced at 31,892. Fugazy repeated earlier warnings that he would take the 3rd match out of town unless Mayor Wagner intervenes.

Stephen Kennedy, New York Police Commissioner, who was blasted by Fugazy, replied in a telephone statement dictated to his office from Miami where he is on vacation.

"The police of New York City will not be used as bouncers, ticket takers or ushers for prize fight promoters," it read. "The police function is to enforce public law for the protection of all the public and not to assist fight promoters who chisel on expenses.

"With an estimated gate of $4,000,000 an adequate number of employees should have been hired to conduct the business (this word was underscored) of running the fight properly. I do not intend to strip the city of protection for the benefit of any fight promoters or private business enterprise."

The $4,000,000 Kennedy mentioned included theater-TV and all the extras.

Fugazy claimed he had 635 guards, special police, ticket takers, gatemen, watchers, ushers and supervisors. This included 150 private detectives and 75 "security representatives." He estimated the cost "in excess of $25,000."

While all this fussing and feuding was going on, Johansson flew to Miami by jet with his fiancee, Birgit Lundgren. He will vacation in Florida for a week before returning to his adopted home in Geneva.

Fugazy received a telegram from Warren Dorn of the Los Angeles County Board of Supervisors, offering the Los Angeles Coliseum as a site and promising full cooperation. The promoter acknowledged the offer in a wire in which he promised to enter into further discussions. He sent similar wires to Mayor Richard Daley of Chicago and Mayor R. L. Thornton of Dallas. In each case he underscored the necessity of police protection as a "vital precaution."

The promoters hope to stage the 3rd fight in late September or early October. The contract calls for a rematch within 120 days of June 20 when Patterson knocked out the Swede in the 5th round.

Says NFL Will Spend Every Cent

. . . To Ruin AFL

Oxford, Miss. (AP) — All America fullback Charlie Flowers testified Wednesday coach Jim Lee Howell of the New York Giants told him the National Football League would "spend every cent we've got to run" the new American Football League out of business.

Flowers testified at a federal court hearing where the Giants are trying to prevent the University of Mississippi star from playing with the Los Angeles Chargers of the newly-organized pro football group.

The Giants coach also told him, Flowers said, that a contract Flowers signed Dec. 1 was binding.

"We're not going to let a two-bit athlete take something away from us," Flowers quoted Howell as telling him.

The Giants offered Flowers a bonus of $3,500 and a two-year, no-cut contract at $11,000 yearly.

The Chargers offered Flowers a $10,000 bonus and a two-year contract calling for $17,500 per year with the same no-cut provisions. President Barron Hilton of the Chargers testified Tuesday and said Flowers would be the highest paid man on the Chargers' roster.

Flowers said Mara told him the Giants took the action "to keep me from signing with the Chargers."

Braves Trip Giants, Grab 5th Straight

Milwaukee (AP)— The Milwaukee Braves jumped on San Francisco southpaw Johnny Antonelli for 5 runs in the 1st 4 innings and went on to defeat the Giants 7-4 Wednesday night for their 5th straight victory.

Veteran right-hander Lew Burdette picked up his 8th victory in 10 decisions, but needed help from relief specialist Don McMahon after the Giants erupted for 3 runs with two out in the 8th.

The Braves, who have won 8 of their last 9 outings, remained within 3½ games of 1st-place Pittsburgh, which blanked St. Louis 5-0, while the 3rd-place Giants dropped 6½ games off the pace.

Elk's Pitchers Hurt By Boots

Errors spoiled a pitchers' dual Wednesday night as Standard Reliance downed Bonebright 3-1 in an Elk's League game.

Winner Jim Munford allowed only two hits — both to Joe McWilliams — in picking up his second win. Bill Redmond pitched a one-hitter, but 6 miscues ruined his effort.

Cleveland's Bowsfield Blanks Washington, 1-0

Cleveland (AP) — Ted Bowsfield limited the Washington Senators to 5 hits in pitching the Cleveland Indians to a 1-0 victory Wednesday night.

A first-inning run on a triple by Jim Piersall and a single by Harvey Kuenn gave the 24-year-old southpaw all he needed in winning his 3rd game of the season. He has lost two.

The loser was starter Bill Fischer, who gave up 5 hits, struck out 4 batters and walked none in the 7 innings he worked. He now has a 2-3 record. Truman Clevenger finished the mound duties for the Senators.

Bowsfield struck out 3 batters and walked 3. He gave up no more than one hit an inning and only one of them was for extra bases — a double by Bob Allison.

BRAVES GET ALVIN DARK

Milwaukee (AP) — The purchase of veteran infielder Alvin Dark from the Philadelphia Phillies was announced Wednesday night by the Milwaukee Braves.

General manager John McHale said the Braves gave up an unannounced amount of cash and turned over the contract of infielder Joe Morgan, now with Louisville in the American Assn., in exchange for the 37-year-old Dark.

Dark was obtained to give Milwaukee added pinchhitting strength in its bid to overhaul the first place Pittsburgh Pirates. The Braves will make room on their roster by trimming a player when Dark reports.

Three-I Prexy To Visit Omaha

Vern Hoscheit, president of the Three-I League, is slated to be in Omaha Sunday for the Lincoln-Sioux City baseball game at Municipal Stadium.

The game will be a trial balloon for 3-1 games in Omaha.

If there is enough fan interest, more games will be shifted but they will be played "under Sioux City colors" says Charley Mancuso, stadium manager.

BASILIO PROTEGE HITS JAY FULLMER

Utica, N.Y. (AP) — Dickie Diveronica, a protege of Carmen Basilio from Syracuse, N.Y., defeated Jay Fullmer, brother of NBA middleweight champion Gene Fullmer, in a split decision 10-round televised bout Wednesday night. Diveronica weighed 135½ pounds. Fullmer 136¼.

Creighton Field Nixed For Preps

Omaha (UPI) — Omaha area high schools will move from Creighton Stadium after the 1960 football season.

At a recent meeting of the Creighton University board of trustees it was decided that the stadium will no longer be available for high school games after the coming season.

Creighton University president the Very Rev. Carl M. Reinert, S.J., said the stadium will continue to be used for the extensive intramural program and by the university ROTC unit.

The south stands have already been taken down and construction is about to begin on a new building on that site.

Neil Elated Over Upset Net Victory

Seattle, Wash. (AP) — Neil Unterseher was quietly elated Wednesday by his surprise victory over Roger Werksman of UCLA, but equally sobered by the knowledge he must meet defending champion Whitney Reed, San Jose State, in the semi-finals of the National Collegiate Athletic Association tennis tournament today.

The former Lincoln High School tennis and basketball star, who is flying the colors of Texas University in the tourney, trounced 5th-seeded Werksman Wednesday, 6-2, 6-0.

Werksman had been complaining of an ailing back and Unterseher conceded that the trouble took some of the snap off of the Bruin's serve.

However, Neil's service was never better and the Lincoln youngster said he is at the top of his game.

Reed, a very unorthodox player, but a member of the preliminary Davis Cup squad, beat William Wolff of Southern Methodist, 6-0, 3-6, 6-3, in the quarter-finals.

DR. LAMPSHIRE HAS BIG DAY

It was a big day for Dr. Earl Lampshire Wednesday. It was both his birthday and wedding anniversary.

He celebrated by scoring a hole-in-one on the 168-yard 8th hole during Hillcrest's stag golf competition.

George Albin, Glen King and Sam Gatto shared low net honors with 71s.

Junior Golf Listed

Overland Park, Kan. (AP) — The 13th Junior Amateur tournament of the U.S. Golf Assn., will be held at the Milburn Golf and Country Club here, Aug. 3-6.

Arnold, Sam Ruin Proud Irish Links

Portmarnock, Ireland (AP)— America's favored Sam Snead and Arnold Palmer shook their rivals and haughty Portmarnock with a dazzling sub-par exhibition Wednesday in a final tuneup for today's opening of the International Canada Cup golf matches.

Teamed for the first time, Snead fired a 65, 7-under-par, and Palmer a 66 in a best ball blood battle with England's Bernard Hunt and Harry Weetman. The Americans won 2 up. Hunt had a 67 and Weetman a 68.

Together they had a best ball of 61, 11 under par for the 7,093 yard, seaside Portmarnock links, and staggered legal bookmakers who began revising odds which had made the Yanks 2-1 favorites.

The 4 day 72-hole tournament opens today among hand picked two-man professional teams from 30 nations.

On the strength of Palmer's Masters and U.S. Open victories this year and Snead's long time record of golfing brilliance the Americans had been established firm 2-1 favorites to wrest the team title from the defending champion Australians, Peter Thomson and Kel Nagle.

However, one bookie said the odds may drop to even money by tee off time. Several bookies said they had quit taking bets on the individual competition in which Palmer is strongly favored over Australia's Thomson, the 4-time British Open champion.

New Champs Assured In Swingfest

By Don Bryant

Lincoln's golf spotlight centers on the Lincoln Country Club today as the 7th annual Swingfest gets underway.

Today's festivities will include scotch foursome action during the day, as some 168 golfers—LCC members and their out-of-town guests—gather, and the annual stag banquet in the evening.

Friday and Saturday will be devoted to the 18-hole, best-ball, handicap tourney.

New champions are assured this year. Last year LCC's Lyle Holland and Frank Bender of Omaha teamed to tie Bob Mowbray of LCC and Max Griffith of Kansas City.

This year Holland is paired with Oz Perry of Los Angeles, Calif., while Mowbray will team with Waldo Nichols of Ogallala. Griffith is on hand to tour the LCC plant with Rems Heiny, former Lincolnite now living in Venezuela.

New innovation this year is the use of shot-gun starting, with the players starting on different holes at the same time.

Friday's pairing, starting times and places:

8:23 A.M.

No. 8—Erv Rucklos (LCC) and Murray Longworth, Omaha; Francis Martland, Omaha, and Frank Flagg, Chicago, Ill.

No. 11—R. L. Spangler, LCC, and Everett Kelloway, Atlantic, Ia.; Bill Jennings, LCC, and Homer Scott, Sheridan, Wyo.

No. 17—Phil Aitken, LCC, and Joe Dyer, Denver, Colo.; Ted Sick, LCC, and Larry Skutt, Denver, Colo.

No. 13—Irv Rosewell, LCC, and Arch Grapenegeter, Beatrice; Max Griffith, Kansas City, Mo., and Rems Heiny, Venezuela.

8:30 A.M.

No. 1—Al Glandt, LCC, and Dick Armstrong, Minden.

No. 2—Dale Ganz, LCC, and John Blyth, El Cajon, Calif.; Tom Jones, LCC, and Gordon Jenkins, Fremont.

No. 3—Bob Reynolds, LCC, and Lt. R. P. Lester, Corpus Christi, Tex.; Dick Spangler, Jr., LCC; and Bob Hall, Omaha.

No. 4—C. E. Swanson, LCC, and Larry Shaw, Omaha; Valley Voyles, LCC, and Harry Funk, U.S. Air Force.

Archie Too Beefy; Bout Date Moved

New York (AP)—Archie Moore's light heavyweight defense against Germany's Erich Schoeppner, scheduled for Toronto July 18, has been postponed to give the champ more time to pare down to the 175-pound limit.

Jack Fugazy, executive director of Feature Sports, Inc. which is co-promoting the match with Dave Rush of Toronto, announced the postponement after a conference with Jack Kearns, Moore's manager. He and Moore said a new date would be set in a few days.

Later in Toronto, Rush said both fighters had agreed on Aug. 8 but the new date had to be cleared with the closed circuit television people.

Originally, it had been planned to stage the Moore-Schoeppner bout and a heavyweight match between Sonny Liston and Zora Folley in Denver as a theater television doubleheader.

At Denver, promoter Milt Willner said "We will have the (Liston-Folley) fight here July 18 as planned."

Kearns said Moore weighed about 195 pounds and couldn't possibly make the weight for the July 18 date. He weighed 206½ for a May 25 fight with Willie Besmanoff in Indianapolis.

Wynn Ends Loss Skein

. . . Drops Orioles, 3-1

Chicago (AP) — White Sox pitcher Early Wynn snapped his 5-game losing streak Wednesday night with a masterful 2-hit 3-1 triumph over the Baltimore Orioles.

The 40-year-old Wynn gave up a single to the 1st man to face him, Marv Breeding. He did not allow another hit until pinch hitter Clint Courtney smashed a single with one out in the 8th.

For Wynn it was his 3rd triumph against 6 losses. The loser was starter Jack Fisher, the first of 3 Baltimore hurlers.

Wynn now has won 274 major league games—more than any active pitcher in the game.

The Sox scored their 3 runs in the 3rd on 3 hits.

Rookies Pep Phils' Sweep Of Chicago

Philadelphia (AP) — The Philadelphia Phillies put on their rookie razzle-dazzle while beating the Chicago Cubs 6-3 Wednesday night for the 3rd straight time.

Chris Short, 22-year-old freshman southpaw, set down the Cubs with 8 scattered hits for his 4th triumph in 6 decisions. He had all the help he needed from two outstanding Phillies' outfield rookies — Tony Curry and Tony Gonzalez, who clouted home runs.

Earlier, the Phillies beat the Cubs 7-6 in the carryover of a suspended game from Tuesday night. The teams, who were halted after 8 innings, resumed with the Cubs scoring a run off Robin Roberts in the 9th inning. John Buzhardt received credit for the victory.

A'S TUMBLE RED SOX, 2-1

Kansas City, (AP) — Ed Sadowski, attempting to score from first base on a double by Frank Malzone, was cut down at the plate for the final out Wednesday night as the Kansas City Athletics defeated the Boston Red Sox, 2-1.

It was the A's 3rd straight victory in the series.

Bosox Option Clinton; Recall Pitcher Muffet

Kansas City (AP)—The Boston Red Sox Wednesday optioned outfielder Lou Clinton to Minneapolis of the American Association. At the same time they recalled pitcher Bill Muffett from Minneapolis.

The recall of Muffett is designed to bolster the Sox' sagging pitching staff. Clinton played with Minneapolis in the 1958 and 1959 seasons.

Bills Ink Home Lad

Buffalo, N.Y. (AP) — The Buffalo Bills of the American Football League Wednesday announced the signing of Sam Sanders, a 210-pound tackle from the University of Buffalo.

Veteran Mulloy Tops British Ace

Wimbledon, England (AP) — Gardnar Mulloy laughed in the face of Father Time Wednesday by advancing into the 3rd round of the Wimbledon men's singles tennis championship along with 3 fellow Americans.

The 46-year-old Miami veteran drubbed Britain's top ranking Mike Davies 6-3, 6-3, 6-4 in a center court battle of two tennis generations.

Mulloy — his crew cut hair now a battleship gray—called on the craft and skill gained in more than a quarter of a century of competition. Davies, 24 and strong as a young lion, chased from corner to corner, strained for volleys just beyond the reach of his racket and sometimes shook his head in wonder as Mulloy sent over a smoking drive of remarkable power.

From an American point of view this victory by Mulloy was the brightest spot in a day which saw the 9 first round survivors from the United States reduced to 4. Eighteen Yanks began play Monday.

The American winners in addition to Mulloy.

Earl (Butch) Buchholz of St. Louis defeated John Cranston, a marine from San Marino, Calif., 6-4, 6-3, 6-1.

Jack Frost of Monterey, Calif., outlasted Reino Nyyssonen of Finland 6-3, 6-3, 6-8, 8-6.

Second-seeded Barry MacKay of Dayton eliminated Adrian Bey of Rhodesia 6-2, 8-6, 6-4.

First-seeded Neale Fraser of Australia also had an easy ride, beating Dutchman Willem Maris 6-2, 6-3, 6-2.

The American victories hardly made up for these heavy losses:

Third-seeded Rod (The Rocket) Laver of Australia swamped Herbie Flam of Beverly Hills, Calif., 6-2, 6-2, 6-2. Laver never lost a service game.

Jan-Erik Lundquist, a blond Swedish slugger, ousted Dennis Ralston of Bakersfield, Calif., 6-4, 6-1 9-7. Ralston is the U.S. junior champion.

Big Jean Grinda of France toyed with Mal Fox of Baltimore 6-0, 6-1, 6-2.

Pierre Darmon of France hung on grimly to defeat Charles McKinley of St. Louis, 6-4, 6-2, 3-6, 4-6, 6-1. Fatigue robbed McKinley of his chance in the last set.

The gloomy American picture was relieved by Janet Hopps of Seattle. In one of the few second round women's matches of the day Miss Hopps surprised Suzy Kormoczy, a 38-yaer-old Budapest housewife, 6-3, 3-6, 9-7.

Nicklaus Has It Rough In NCAA

Colorado Springs, Colo. (AP) —National amateur champion Jack Nicklaus of Ohio State breezed through the first round but battled to the 19th hole before beating Frank James of Iowa 1-up in the second round of match play Wednesday in the NCAA golf championship.

Defending champion Richard Crawford of Houston, knocked out Gene Francis of Purdue, the tourney medalist, 5 and 4 in the second round. Crawford squeaked through the first round with a 2 and 1 victory over Rolf Deming of Minnesota.

Building May Be Demolished Without Paying Assessments

An owner of a building which has been condemned by the state fire marshal can demolish the building without paying unpaid special assessments against the property for an existing bonded indebtedness.

This was the ruling in an opinion released Wednesday by the attorney general for Assistant State Fire Marshal G. E. Ekstrand.

The opinion said a previous ruling states that where the fire marshal condemned and ordered removal of a building, this order must be obeyed without prior payment of delinquent taxes.

Legislation authorizing the fire marshal to order such action is the result of the exercise of the police power of the state and the owner of the building can not rely on his failure to pay taxes when due as a defense to the action ordered by the fire marshal, the opinion said.

The same reasoning should apply to unpaid bonded indebtedness as to delinquent taxes, the opinion said.

LEGAL GUARDIAN IS REQUIRED FOR STERILIZATION OF MINORS

When sterilization of a minor person at the Beatrice State Home is contemplated, a legal guardian for the minor must be appointed for the proceedings in addition to the parents, the Nebraska Attorney General's office said.

The opinion, written by Gerald S. Vitamvas, assistant attorney general, said a 1943 law provides for a procedure whereby mentally deficient persons capable of bearing or begetting offspring can be sterilized prior to discharge from the Beatrice State Home.

When the procedure is contemplated, notice must be given to the patient and his guardian. If he has no guardian, one must be appointed. If the whereabouts of the parents are known, they must also be given notice, Vitamvas said.

"The rights of the parents as natural guardians have been superseded, at least in part, by the home," he said, which is responsible for the training and education of the patients, insofar as they are capable of receiving such.

The opinion was written on a question by Harold F. Peterson, vice chairman of the Nebraska Board of Control.

Omaha To Levy City Wheel Tax

Omaha (AP) — The Omaha City Council passed a special wheel tax to raise money for street repair.

The tax is $5 per passenger cars and $10 to $13 for trucks. It is expected to raise $550,000 and permit the street department to repay over $200,000 borrowed from other departments as well as to provide more money for street work.

Shift Track Schedule

Since Columbus' Tom Saunders made his celebrated complaint against being forced to run the 220 and 440 back-to-back in the state track meet, there have been many suggestions for changing the program.

Most, however, although they might have solved the problem of Saunders and Boys Town Jim Johnson, would set up other difficulties just as troublesome.

The 220-440 double is rather unusual. In addition to Saunders and Johnson, only 6 others tried it this year, 5 of them in Class C. None was particularly successful in the double, the best being Mullen's Larry Sweet. He won the 440, then finished 5th but was disqualified in the 220.

Tough Combination

There might be more try the double if they were not scheduled together, but I doubt it. The 440 is a taxing race, and the combination with the 100 is more natural for a 220 man.

Wherever you might reschedule the race, more common doubles arise. Move the 220 ahead, and you're bumping into those who double in the low hurdles or the 100 yard dash.

At present, the mile follows the 440 and 220, and it would seem that putting the mile between the two shorter races would be a good idea. But then you have runners coming out of the 220 and going directly into a relay.

Move Up Relay

One suggestion was to move the mile relay up to Friday morning before the other preliminaries. This has two points in its favor: it would alleviate the congestion of relays at the end of the Saturday program, and it might allow an easier juggling of the schedule to prevent back-to-back doubling.

But I doubt if the coaches would go for the early relay running.

First, they want their boys as fresh as possible in the all-important preliminaries. If they don't get through those, there's no chance to score.

Secondly, coaches like to see how the meet is going before deciding upon their relay personnel. The coaches do considerable juggling at the end of the meet.

Too Much

I heard of a coach once who wanted to stand on the sidelines as the mile relay was being run with several runners at his side. If his team was losing, he'd put in a slower man and have his best for the 880 relay. If they had a chance, he'd shoot the works in the mile with a fast man.

This, fortunately, was overruled.

My suggestion to future runners as talented as Saunders is either not try the 220-440 double, or else don't complain.

Brink's Bandit Released From Jail

Boston (AP)— Joseph J. (Specs) O'Keefe, dapper 51-year-old hoodlum whose testimony for the state sent 8 fellow bandits to jail for life for the $1,219,000 Brink's robbery, was adjudged Wednesday to have "paid his debt in full."

The thin, balding gangster, who pleaded guilty to his part in the January, 1950 robbery and then spent more than 4 years awaiting sentence, walked out of Suffolk Superior Court after Judge Felix Forte said:

"You are discharged from custody as far as the commonwealth is concerned."

Judge Forte, who presided at the Brink's trial, Wednesday first sentenced O'Keefe to 4 years, but then set him free. In discharging him the court noted O'Keefe already had served that much time.

Debt Paid

Dist. Atty. Garrett H. Byrne recommended O'Keefe's discharge. "I feel," the prosecutor said, "he has paid his debt . . . in full."

Byrne said the 8 men now in prison for life would not be there save for O'Keefe's testimony. O'Keefe had testified he and 10 others planned and carried out the biggest cash haul in American criminal records. Two alleged participants died before the trial started in 1956.

O'Keefe was not sentenced with the others because it was necessary he be available as a witness in the event an appeal brought about a new trial.

That need ended when the United States Supreme Court declined to hear an appeal.

Harm Feared

It was feared, too, harm might have befallen O'Keefe if he were sent to a penitentiary. He has been held in East Cambridge Jail.

"There is no penitentiary in our commonwealth or Pennsylvania or any other state where this defendant could serve any future sentence without becoming a prey, a sitting duck, for murder or cruel and inhuman punishment at the hands of the strangely endowed or motivated," Byrne told Judge Forte.

Byrne's reference to Pennsylvania became apparent shortly afterward when O'Keefe was escorted downstairs to municipal court to face a fugitive from justice warrant. He is wanted in Pennsylvania on a charge of possessing firearms. He was released from that state to be the star witness in the Brink's case.

O'Keefe claims he already has served time in Pennsylvania for stealing guns and that the second charge is double jeopardy.

There was every indication O'Keefe intends to fight rendition.

In municipal court, bail was set at $5,000 for an Aug. 3 hearing on rendition.

Demos Do Sugar Bill About-Face

Washington (UPI) — House Democratic farm leaders, in a sudden about-face, agreed Wednesday to grant President Eisenhower broad authority to cut Cuba's sugar sales in this country. The move could be a stiff economic blow to Premier Fidel Castro.

The Democrats, who previously opposed the grant, changed their minds after Secretary of State Christian A. Herter told the House Agriculture Committee this is "an appropriate time" to end the dependence of U.S. consumers on Cuba for their sugar supplies.

Herter also criticized as "undesirable" the committee's party-line 19-14 vote two weeks ago to reject the President's request. The committee then went behind closed doors to hear a confidential briefing from Herter on conditions in Cuba.

Briefing

Chairman Harold Cooley (D-NC) attributed the Democratic about face to this Herter briefing. He denied it reflected a "pro-Castro" charge leveled at the Democrats after the earlier vote by Rep. William E. Miller (R-NY), chairman of the Republican congressional campaign committee.

Cooley said he believed the Democratic-controlled committee now would go along with the President's request. There also was a possibility the group would order a mandatory cut in Cuban sugar sales here.

Herter was asked after the hearing if the administration planned any immediate cut in Cuba's quota if the President is given discretionary powers.

"No," he replied.

No Indication

He gave no indication of the size of any cut under consideration.

Any substantial cut would be the most damaging blow ever suffered by the Cuban economy and could mean economic ruin for the Caribbean country, which depends upon sales to the United States for much of its revenues.

Cuba supplies about one-third of all U.S. sugar. About one-half of Cuba's sugar production is marketed in this country at higher-than-world prices. In the past, even the hint of a substantial cut in U.S. sugar purchases was sufficient to topple a government.

Petroleum Council Gives Sharp Reply To AGC

The Nebraska Petroleum Council responded sharply Wednesday to the Nebraska Associated General Contractors, which had cited it for failing to take issue with Omaha unions and the governor on the wage scale issue.

The Nebraska highway-heavy chapter of the AGC had said "the petroleum interests, truckers Assn. and Farm Bureau have not objected" to what the AGC described as a move by the unions to expand their territory with the help of the governor's office.

"You imply," responded C. Russell Lockwood, executive secretary of the petroleum council in an open letter to the contractors, "that we are not concerned over wasteful spending of road funds.

"This is like the pot calling the kettle black."

Lockwood said James R. Critchfield, secretary of the contractors group, is involved in "a matter of a few thousand dollars," but "you always seem to find yourself conspicuously absent in those matters that involve millions.

"It seems rather strange that a group such as yours which thrives from living out of the public till would hold themselves forward as the protector of the public purse while admonishing those who have really tried to do something about wasteful spending for many years."

"You might be interested in knowing that the petroleum industry is concerned over excessive costs spent in our highway program. But this concern over excessive costs reflects contractors profits, material men's profits, and right-of-way profits as well as wage rates paid to working men."

Khrush Openly Seizes Ideological Leadership Among Commies

London (UPI)—Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev has openly seized ideological leadership in the communist camp in the face of a growing challenge from Red China's Mao Tsetung.

He did so in speeches to the Romanian Party Congress in Bucharest in which he proclaimed greater flexibility in traditional communism in an open challenge to Peiping's hard policy line.

Khruschchev said that in future the communists must interpret the writings of Karl Marx, Friedrich Engels and V. I. Lenin in the light of the times and not slavishly apply the 40-year-old writings to modern politics.

His policy is that there can and must be peaceful co-existence with the West although Lenin taught that a long series of battle between communist and capitalistic nations was inevitable.

As recently as June 1, Chinese Communist Vice Premier Lu Ting-yi told a Peiping congress that hopes for a live-and-let live policy with the West "do not exist and never will exist."

Khrushchev said flatly that war was not inevitable and he made a spirited attack on communists who follow Leninism to the letter. Throughout the exchange he did not mention Red China by name.

His speech followed reports of his recent victory within Russia itself over proponents of the old, tough line.

In expounding a new line he took a daring step. Marxist-Leninist teachings have been considered an unviolable dogma and any departure heresy. Khrushchev now allows for their interpretation and calls for careful analysis to meet the changing needs of the times.

Students of communist affairs believe that he has thus indirectly set himself up as the chief interpreter of Marxist-Leninism. This in open contrast to Red China which holds to the old Leninism.

"We live in a time when we have neither Marx, nor Engels, nor Lenin with us," he said. "If we act like children who studying the alphabet we compile words from letters, we shall not go very far."

Khruschev thus appeared to have claimed the license to interpret Marx and Lenin his own way, breaking the rigidity of the communist dogma.

Sign Trade Pact

Oslo (AP)—Norway and Poland have signed a new one-year trade agreement calling for exchanges of about 5 million dollars worth of goods.

Egypt, Russia Reaching Accord On Aswan Dam

Cairo (UPI)—Egypt hopes to reach complete agreement with the Soviet Union this summer on construction of the Aswan high dam, which is to provide power for the industrialization of the country.

Egyptian Public Works Minister Moussa Arafa told United Press International that the target date for completion of the dam still is the end of 1967.

The dam will back up a lake 300 miles long and will increase land cultivation by nearly one-third.

Russia, which at first agreed to help finance and build only the first stage, then offered to help finance the entire project. Changes were made in the original plans drafted by Western experts, and the project now will be built as a whole instead of 3 separate stages.

Parchments Found

Moscow (AP) — Seventeen fragments of an Armenian manuscript dated 873 A.D. have been found in the collection of Matenadaran, the Yerevan repository, Tass reports in a dispatch from Tiflis. It describes them as fairly well preserved parchments with a handwritten translation of the "public edifications" by Kirill of Jerusalem.

Swindle Case Sentencing June 30

Omaha (AP) — Two men convicted by a Federal District Court jury on 21 counts of stock swindle and using the mails to defraud, and another man who pleaded guilty in part of the charges will be sentenced June 30.

Judge Richard E. Robinson ruled Wednesday there had been insufficient evidence for the jury to convict on 12 of the 21 counts of attempting to defraud stockholders and dismissed those.

But he upheld 9 counts and said there was evidence the men made untrue statements of material facts in connection with the sale of stocks and that they also violated sections of the Security and Exchange Commission regulations.

The two convicted in March are Charles F. Newell, Omaha and Chauncey A. Allen, former Omahan now living in Denver. Charles E. Johnson of Omaha is the 3rd man who will be sentenced.

Thomas J. Skutt, assistant U.S. district attorney, charged at the trial that hundreds of Nebraska investors were sold approximately $145,000 worth of stock in an insurance company that never did any business.

Nebraska News

Nebraskans Draw Prison Sentences

Sioux City (AP) — Three Nebraskans were sentenced in Federal Court for interstate transportation of stolen cars.

Dale N. Blackfish, 22, Winnebago, Neb., and James H. Clarke, 32, Omaha, received two-year sentences. Benny P. Eagle, 21, of Winnebago, was given an intermediate term under the Federal Correction Act.

Clarence Steffen, Crofton, Neb., and Virgil Pierson, Wayne, Neb., were fined $100 each on charges they failed to sterilize their trucks after carrying brucellosis-infected cattle.

Jet Tanker To Retrace Pony Express Route

Omaha (AP) — In observance of the Pony Express Centennial, a Strategic Air Command jet tanker will retrace —by air—the old pony express route that linked Sacramento, Calif., and St. Joseph, Mo.

The flight, scheduled for July 19, will be made by a KC-135 of the 4134th Strategic wing, Mather AFB, Calif., SAC headquarters said.

Aboard during the flight will be Col. Waddell Smith, (Ret.) a great grandson of W. B. Waddell, who founded the pony express in 1860.

Milk Producers Increase Price

Omaha (AP) — The Nebraska Iowa Co-Operative Milk Producers Assn. Wednesday announced a price increase of 37 cents a hundredweight to producers for class 1 milk.

The new price will be $5.08 starting July 1 providing the federal minimum order price remains the same.

The figure will not include a bulk tank premium of 15 cents a hundredweight. The premium has been in effect for two and a half years.

GOP Meals Draw 1,000 From State

Four Republican Party fund raising dinners in the past week drew a total of more than 1,000 Nebraskans, party finance chairman John Riddell of York reported Wednesday.

The $5 and $10-a-plate dinners were held at Lexington, Hebron, Beatrice and Fairbury.

In an effort "to secure 20,000 Nebraskans as $5 or $10 investors in nothing more than honest and sound government," 40 additional such dinners already have been scheduled throughout Nebraska during July and August, Riddell said.

Speakers at the recent dinners have included Sen. Roman Hruska, state GOP chairman Charles Thone, gubernatorial candidate John Cooper, former Gov. Robert Crosby, and Eisenhower cabinet secretary Robert Gray.

Demo Rivals Not Fretting Adlai Efforts

Washington (UPI)—The effort to draft Adlai E. Stevenson for a 3rd try for the presidency hasn't caught fire enough to cause other Democratic rivals any serious concern.

The draft effort suffers from the fact that Stevenson himself lends it virtually no encouragement. Furthermore, as Sen. A. S. Mike Monroney (D-Okla.), a Stevenson supporter, says, it is a movement "with all Indians and no chiefs."

Nonetheless, Stevenson supporters keep their hopes high and expect their candidate's bid to really come to life if Sen. John F. Kennedy (Mass.) fails to wrap up the Democratic nomination on an early ballot.

Monroney and former Sen. Herbert H. Lehman (N.Y.) are writing letters to national convention delegates with whom they are acquainted, urging a Stevenson nomination. Their efforts are backed by Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt.

More 'Urgency' Needed In Study Of Moon Living

Washington (UPI) — The House Space Committee said that government researchers should be working harder on the problem of how to keep American space pioneers alive once they land on the moon.

The committee said development of rockets to provide transportation to the moon is proceeding satisfactorily but that research on how man can overcome the "hostile environment of the moon" is not going along with the same urgency.

It urged U.S. space officials to adopt a $13,800,000 3-year program to select suitable landing sites on the moon for manned expeditions and to begin construction of a "lunar environment simulator," a chamber that would duplicate living conditions on the moon.

Wheat Harvest Start Delayed Two Or 3 Days

Recent rains and cool weather will delay the start of Nebraska's wheat harvest an estimated two to 3 days in most areas, the state Labor Department's Division of Employment Security reported Wednesday.

Meanwhile, registration of corn detassler has begun in some employment offices and will be in full swing by next week, the division said.

Farm job placements last week totaled 545 in Nebraska, the agency said.

Can't Sleep?

Until recently, the only way to induce sleep was to drug the mind. Now comes safe, hospital-tested Dormin, using the newest sleeping principle. With Dormin you have nothing to fear—no dangerous narcotics, no habit-forming barbiturates, no tranquilizers. Yet Dormin was proved remarkably effective in 9 out of 10 clinical cases.

Try one or two Dormin capsules as directed. Clinical studies show that is usually enough to bring sleep quickly. Ask for Dormin, the original sleeping capsule—no prescription needed. Only $1.00 at all good drug stores.

4 Counties Tabbed As Disaster Areas

. . . Federal Loans OKd For Flood-Hit Nebraska

Omaha (AP) — Sen. Carl T. Curtis said Wednesday the Small Business Administration is declaring Dodge, Douglas, Madison and Sarpy Counties in Nebraska disaster areas because of recent floods.

Curtis said under this declaration owners of homes, businesses, churches and charitable institutions can apply for rehabilitation or reconstruction loans at 3% interest, as a result of damage or destruction of property by the floods of the last several days.

Curtis said in a telegram from Washington that the Small Business Administration office in Omaha will receive the applications.

Loup Valley Seeks Share Via Chamber

Burwell (AP) — "We got tired of seeing Omaha, Lincoln and sections of Nebraska having united chambers grab all the plums."

That, says Tom Ingolsby of Ord, is why the Loup Valley United Chambers of Commerce is being formed.

Speaking at a meeting of the Wanglers Club, Ingolsby said the Ord Chamber, which launched the move, feels that the Loup Valley hasn't been getting its share of roads, irrigation, reclamation and other things.

Ingoldby is editor of the Ord Quiz.

"Results of the 1960 census was the blow that forced us into action," Ingolsby said. "All of the rural communities lost population, and all of the cities, with few exceptions, gained. That should demonstrate to everyone that there is poor distribution of things that make for prosperity in the state of Nebraska."

Fred Harris, 89, Former Alliance Mayor, Is Dead

Alliance (AP) — Funeral services for Fred W. Harris, 89, former mayor of Alliance and City Council and school board member, will be held at 10 a.m. Thursday at the Episcopal Church here. He died after an illness of one month.

Mr. Harris came to Alliance as a Burlington Railroad employe and later went into the banking and building and loan association business. He served many years as vice president and cashier of the Alliance National Bank, retiring about 5 years ago. He was a former Lincoln resident.

Webster Co. Oil Interest Renewed

Red Cloud (AP)—Oil interest has been renewed in Webster County with the decision of the Guy F. Atkinson Co., to drill a wildcat test two miles south of Blue Hill.

There have been several test wells put down in different parts of the county in the past. Some have been reported to have shown traces of oil, but none in commercial quantities. Some drillers feel that the reason for the failures is that the wells were not drilled deep enough.

The last test well, which was put down in Webster County about 10 years ago brought up oil but was plugged after several weeks of exploratory work. This well was 9 miles northwest of Red Cloud.

A sidelight to drilling operations was the discovery of several good veins of coal.

Compromise Water Projects Bill Drafters Rushing Work

Washington (AP) — A Senate-House conference committee is rushing to complete a compromise water projects authorization bill acceptable to Congress and President Eisenhower.

As passed by the Senate, the measure would authorize nearly 140 projects with a federal cost of over $1.5 billion dollars—about 3 times the size of the bill as it passed the House a year ago.

And the administration has served notice it opposes, for various reasons, a third of the projects largely contained in the Senate version.

Rep. Clifford Davis (D-Tenn), who heads the House conferees, said he sees no point in sending the President a bill he will not sign. For that reason, he said, he expects to favor elimination of some of the projects added by the Senate and to which the administration objects.

Davis said time is an essential factor.

Eisenhower has 10 days in which to accept or reject a bill after it passes and, should the bill pass this week the 10 days won't end until about the time Congress expects to adjourn.

This means, members of Congress pointed out, that if Eisenhower vetoes the bill then Congress wouldn't have time to override—unless, of course, Congress returns after the national conventions.

The administration among other things objects to a provision of the bill—inserted by the Senate—that would authorize Army engineers to consider a project's recreation benefits in figuring its economic feasibility.

Two-Year Recess Good For Party, Republicans Told

Fairbury (AP)— A Republican fund raising dinner was told by former Governor Robert Crosby that the "two-year recess" from the governor's chair was good for the Republicans because it helped the people realize that they must elect Republicans for dependable government.

Crosby charged the Democratic administration with having promoted "ungraceful patronage in all state departments" and asserted "you can't run a good state government if you are greedy about offices in order to promote your own party at the risk of the state government."

Crosby substituted for Sen. Roman Hruska who remained in Washington for a Senate session.

New Ashland OPPD Building Set

Ashland — A new $63,000 service headquarters building will be erected here by the Omaha Public Power District.

OPPD directors signaled an immediate construction start with completion scheduled by Jan. 1.

The Korshoj Construction Co. of Blair, which submitted the lowest of 9 bids, is the contractor. The building will serve Ashland, Gretna, Ithaca, Memphis, Wann and surrounding territory in OPPD's rural division.

Watershed Tour Set

Cortland (AP)—The Nebraska Society of Farm Managers and Rural Appraisers will meet here Friday for a tour of the Indian Creek watershed. A noon luncheon at Beatrice is planned.

Frolik Stresses Ag Experiment Stations' Value

Alliance (AP)—Dr. Elvin Frolik, dean of the Nebraska College of Agriculture, says experiment stations like the Box Butte station "constitute a most valuable link in the chain of agricultural research organization.

"As our agricultural problems become more complex, we will need more extensive and elaborate laboratories for their solution. Such facilities can best be concentrated at a central point where scientists can work together, exchange ideas, and thereby make progress," he said.

Dr. Frolik commended the people of Box Butte County on making establishment of the station possible by donating 160 acres of land and buildings.

Wheat Bill Returning For Action By House

...Rejected Measure As Passed By Senate

Washington (AP) — The House will try again Thursday to pass a wheat bill aimed at cutting into steadily mounting surpluses. But there is little indication what form the measure will take.

The House spent more than 4 hours Tuesday debating the issue. It turned down a motion to accept the bill passed by the Senate to keep the present level of price supports at 75% of parity while cutting acreage 20%.

But it put off until Thursday further efforts to agree on a new wheat bill because legislation to amend the social security act was considered Wednesday.

The House has before it a bill, approved 20-13 by the House Agriculture Committee, to increase price supports to 85% of parity and provide for a 25% cut in wheat acreage. This measure, which also includes a program for feed grains, is strongly opposed by the administration.

The move to accept the Senate bill, defeated on a standing 108-92, vote, was backed generally by Republican members and opposed by the Democratic side.

Republican House Leader Charles Halleck of Indiana, urged the Senate version and said he was sure it would be acceptable to President Eisenhower.

To offset the cut in production, the Senate bill provides that farmers would receive from government surplus stocks half the amount of wheat that would have been produced as an average on the unused land.

McCook, Oxford Masonic Lodges Mark 75th Year

Omaha (AP) — Two Nebraska Masonic lodges will observe 75th anniversaries this week.

McCook Lodge No. 135, observed its 75th anniversary Wednesday and Rawalt Lodge No. 138 of Oxford observes its anniversary Thursday.

The McCook charter was issued June 24, 1885. The Oxford charter also was issued June 24.

Number Of Stock Shares Increased

Omaha (AP) — Stockholders of Fairmont Foods Co., Omaha, voted at their annual meeting Wednesday to increase the number of authorized common shares of stock from 850,000 to 2,500,000.

E. D. Edquist, president of the company, said 574,000 shares or 87.9% of the common stock were represented at the meeting and 98.3% of the shares represented were voted in favor of the increase.

New Chadron School OKd

Chadron (AP) — Chadron voters approved a $310,000 bond issue for construction of a new East Ward elementary school.

The new building would require $280,000 of the amount and the remainder would go for furniture and equipment.

Of a total of 768 votes cast in the comparatively light election, 451 favored the proposal and 317 opposed it. There were only two absentee ballots.

This gave the proposal a percentage of 58.8, compared with the 55% required for approval.

—Brochure of the Mount Kenya Safari Club

The mail this morning is from Darkest Africa. It brings out the primitive, the killer in me.

For some time now, we have been planning a safari—it is about the only thing left you can do and brag about these days. So I was pleased to get the rundown from the elegant Mount Kenya Safari Club of which I am a member.

The Club was started by Mr. Ryan, the oil tycoon, and Mr. William Holden of the movies. It is a little bit of home for us hunters—"There is a heated swimming pool, Turkish bath and massage, beauty parlor, barber shop, golf course and underwater observation cocktail lounge," says the Club brochure.

☆ ☆ ☆

Since many people will want to go on safari, I ran down a little cost sheet.

"An excellent room, including board, is available for less than $10 a day," says the booklet, a price I consider most fair.

The cost of getting to the Club is not exactly like getting on a streetcar. It is $1611 round trip from New York—$108 extra if you want to go de luxe, and I imagine you do.

This puts you into your $10 a day room. It does not get you out on safari.

The cost of a 30-day safari is $3000. This may seem a little high at first. But you must remember that it includes one professional White Hunter—(not William Holden but a White Hunter who looks a little like William Holden)—tentage and camp equipment and a radio receiving set.

It also includes an African staff of gunbearers, skinners, drivers, cooks and personal servants. About enough, I should judge to run a 15-room house or a small Mau Mau rebellion.

The 3 Gs also entitle you to one 4-wheel drive safari car and one 5-ton truck to transport your safari equipment. And of course all the delicacies of field and stream plus the finest canned goods.

So you can see the price is not exorbitant. Possibly less than a month at Las Vegas.

☆ ☆ ☆

As to extras (tips are not included and it is customary to give your gavorite gunbearer a little on the side)—the extras depend on what you shoot.

There is a standard fee on every animal brought down. So it is wise to take tranquilizers to check your killing instinct.

The cheapest animals are Haggard's Oribi and Cottoni's Oribi which go for $1 each. You can also get a Klipspringer for the same price.

However, if you get into elephants, the cost can mount alarmingly.

The first elephant will cost you $220; the second is $290.

Lions go for $75. Ostriches are $15 and blue monkey is $4.

☆ ☆ ☆

Your safari clothing is $26 a suit with boots at $13 and hats $7 to $14.

You rent your guns. Rifles over 400 caliber are $55 a month.

Taxidermist charges are your responsibility—the charge for stuffing a "large" animal is $200.

I think you can do the whole thing for $8000. And it is pleasant when you are around our Club to know that you are with people who like nice things.

Liverpool Store Fire Fatal To 11

Liverpool, England (AP) — Fire swept a crowded department store in midafternoon Wednesday, killing 11 persons and injuring a dozen. The blaze was the worst in this port city since the Nazi air raids of World War II.

Some customers and store workers were trapped on the fifth floor of the Henderson department store, owned by Harrods of London.

A 15-year-old cashier, Carol Parry, escaped with burns by inching her way 50 feet along an 18-inch-wide ledge on the fifth floor. She told newsmen:

"I was in the cafe on the top floor with a lot of customers when smoke poured in.

"Some of the elderly women hurried down stairs when the cry of fire was raised. I went to collect my cash, then found the staircase blocked by smoke.

"I climbed out on to the ledge and inched my way along to the fire truck ladder down which I was helped to safety."

Firemen wearing breathing apparatus entered the store 4 hours after the blaze began and found 10 bodies on the top floor. One man had plunged to his death earlier.

Fire crews continued after dark to search the debris for dead or injured. Other firemen fought isolated pockets of fire in the charred building.

Nazarene Church Urged To Educate Its Youth At Rally

Kansas City, Mo. (UPI)—The importance of the Nazarene Church in educating its youth was stressed Wednesday at a rally of educators at the Nazarene 15th quadrennial general assembly.

Dr. G. B. Williamson, a general superintendent of the Church of the Nazarenes, told the session here that Christian education is another first.

Dr. Williamson made a plea to the Nazarenes for greater financial supports of the denomination's schools, colleges and seminaries.

"The church owes the colleges more loyalty in prayer and a fairer share of our dollar," he said.

Senate Votes $8½ Billion For Agencies

Washington (UPI) — The Senate Wednesday night passed an $8,459,412,900 money bill to operate the government's independent agencies after rejecting a proposal to deny federal aid to airports with segregated facilities.

The bill was passed 75-8 after the Senate killed an amendment by Sen. Jacob K. Javits (R-NY) to add the anti-segregation provision. The vote on the Javits proposal was 58-29.

In its only change, the Senate increased from $5,000,000 to $50,000,000 an experimental government loan program for housing for elderly persons. The amendment was offered by Sen. Harrison A. Williams Jr. (D-NJ).

The Senate threw out—on a point of order—a proposal by Sen. Frank J. Lausche (D-Ohio) to ban aid to airports where lewd or lascivious literature is sold.

The bill was $277,345,500 above the $8,182,067,400 voted by the House. President Eisenhower originally asked $8,417,397,000 for the same items.

The money would finance a wide variety of government regulatory bodies, independent offices and other agencies not directly under any cabinet department.

Lexington Man Drowns

Lexington (AP) — Lawrence (Pete) Cunningham, 35, of Lexington, drowned Wednesday night when he fell off a canal cross walk near the Morton boat dock at Johnson Lake while fishing.

The body was recovered an hour later by the Lexington rescue squad. Cunningham was a postal employe. Four witnesses said he apparently slipped and plunged into the water.

Stocks Are Given Substantial Boost

New York (AP)—Strength in steels, rails, and coppers gave an irregular stock market a pretty substantial boost Wednesday, trading was active.

Utilities also firmed the overall market average. Airlines, tobaccos, and selected issues produced a generally higher tone.

The price pattern was mixed for autos, chemicals, rubbers, aircrafts, and oils.

Rails were helped by published comment on the quickening tempo of impending mergers among the carriers. Steels apparently met renewed institutional demand on the theory that their prices were low enough to make them good risks on the expectations of an upturn in steel orders this fall.

Based on the rise in the Associated Press average, the quoted value of stocks listed on the New York Stock Exchange gained an estimated 1½ billion dollars.

The AP 60-stock averages advanced 1.10 to 222.70 with the industrials up 1.20, the rails up 1.50, and the utilities up .40 to another new peak for 1960.

The Dow Jones industrial average gained less impressively, rising only 43 to 645.36.

Of 1,210 issues traded, 539 advanced and 433 declined. New highs for the year totaled 48 and new lows 32.

Volume was 3,600,000 shares compared with Tuesday's 3,860,000.

Among the 15 most active stocks there was an even split of seven gainers and seven losers with one unchanged. General Telephone & Electronics.

American Stock Exchange prices were mixed on volume of 1,430,000 shares compared with 1,550,000 Tuesday.

Corporate bonds declined.

U.S. government bonds were mostly higher.

Bond volume declined to $5,050,000 par value on the big board from $5,480,000 Tuesday.

Grains Suffer 3rd Setback Of The Week

Chicago (AP) — In its third setback of the week, numerous grain futures contracts hit or barely missed their lowest levels of the season Wednesday on the Board of Trade.

July corn and soybeans along with most rye contracts sank to season lows for the second consecutive day. In the decline, they took several new crop wheat, corn and soybean deliveries to within a cent or so of the bottom.

Wheat was ¼-½ cent a bushel lower at the close, July $1.82⅛; corn ⅜-1 cent lower, July $1.15⅞-¾; oats ⅛-½ lower, July 69¾; rye unchanged to ½ lower, July $1.17⅞-18; soybeans ⅜-¾ lower, July $2.09-09⅛.

Survey Shows Urban Taxpayers Paid 40% Of 1960 Tangible Taxes

By B. R. Rothenberger

Urban taxpayers in 25 cities contributed 40% of all the tangible taxes during fiscal 1960, according to a survey by The Nebraska Citizens Council.

In addition to the 40%, which in terms of dollars was $68.7 millions, the urban taxpayers paid an average of 6% more than during fiscal 1959. And with the exception of taxes for the support of the state's mental patients, which are diminishing, the prospect is for a slow but steady increase.

The Council's survey offered no specific remedies against increasing taxes, but advised taxpayers that major emphasis on reducton of the state levy is misdirected in terms of great savings.

It pointed out the state taxes constitute but 12% of the total bill. School taxes amount to 49% while city taxes amount to 27%. County taxes are least—7%. From this the survey advised that if rewarding savings are to be derived the most fruitful field is in the area of city and school levies.

School Reduction Doubtful

Of school taxes the survey observed: "Until the average taxpayer is willing to publicly engage in the determination of what is and what is not required for the education of the children of his community, it is extremely doubtful that school taxes will decrease in any substantial amount."

The survey indicated that rising taxes stemmed from two sources (1) generally rising cost of goods and services and (2) demand of citizens for more local projects and services.

Using the averages of the 1960 fiscal year (assessment of 1959) the survey noted that city taxes increased 4% over the 1959 fiscal year, school taxes increased 8% and state taxes 9%.

Mental Care Improved

Only in the field of mental patient care does a definite average levy in a 1960-1959 fiscal year comparison dropped from $2.22 per thousand of tangible property to $2.04. The survey attributed this to improvement and progress in the treatment and release of patients and observed," it appears that stability, if not reduction, of mental patient taxes may be expected in the immediate future."

Modern and enlightened therapy for state mental patients is credited with reducing the state's patient load in the one year period from 4,593 to 4,004.

Lincoln's overall tax increase from fiscal 1959 to 1960 was 8%, city up 6.3, school up 1.9, county down 8.1 mental care up .1. In terms of dollars the city rose from $3,141,907 to $3,511,809; school went from $7,574,496 to $8,120,355; county dropped from $874,735 to $845,087; mental care rose from $471,286 to $501,418; state went from $1,422,784 to $1,586,887.

Lincoln's total tangible tax bill in fiscal 1959 was $13,485,210, and in 1960, $14,565,559, an increase of $1,080,349.

The cities with fiscal 1960 school levies, dollars collected and percentage changes in mill levies:

Alliance, 53.30, $532,914, none.
Beatrice, 36.80, $616,730, up 2%.

Man Pleads Guilty To Theft Of Patrol Car

John Kruger of 2250 So. 9th pleaded guilty to an auto theft charge in Lancaster District Court in connection with the theft of a Sheriff's patrol car early Wenesday morning.

Kruger, 24, was apprehended by a posse of deputy sheriffs and Safety Patrolmen about 6 a.m. Wednesday about 5 miles west of Avoca. The patrol car was found heavily damaged in a ditch about 3 miles away where it had been spotted during an air search.

Judge Harry Ankeny committed Kruger to jail pending a pre-sentence investigation by the Adult Probation Office.

Admitted Being Drunk

Kruger told authorities he was drunk at the time he took the car from the Outpost Tavern and Grill at 2834 Folsom about 12:45 a.m. He said he did not even remember taking the car.

Dep. Sheriffs William Greiner and Vincent McNeil had parked the patrol car and left it with the motor running while they had gone into the tavern to warn the tavern operators to be on the alert for two inmates who had escaped from the Men's Reformatory earlier that night.

They saw someone sitting in the car and when they left the tavern to investigate the man behind the wheel drove off.

Eluded Cruiser

Lincoln police said the car eluded a police cruiser after running over the center island on Capitol Parkway near 27th and heading out of town on East o.

Kruger's own car was found parked outside the tavern.

Sheriff Merle Karnopp said the patrol car's engine possibly was burned out in addition to a broken bumper, flat tire and damage to the manifold, battery and fan.

White-Gloved Lady Shoots Niece, Hubby

Coeur d'Alene, Idaho (AP)—An elderly spinster from Alabama put on white gloves before shooting a favorite niece and her husband as they lay in bed and then calmly took her own life, police said.

Officers said she might also have thrown acid into the face of the man.

Found dead in the den of a Coeur d'Alene home, seated in a chair with a .38 caliber pistol in her lap, was Jeanette Todd, 78, Birmingham, Ala.

In serious condition with head wounds were Henry W. Dean, 48, and his wife, Jean, 45. Dean was shot in the mouth and his wife in the ear. Both bullets lodged in the neck.

Reine Schmidt, assistant police chief, said Miss Todd apparently shot the Deans in their sleep. A bottle which had contained carbolic acid was found in a garbage can, leading officers to believe that acid had also been thrown on Dean.
